New Library Will Honor Rev. McKeon

The Rev. Thomas J. McKeon, 78-year-old pastor of Menlo Park's Church of the Nativity for the past 38 years, was honored in a very special way this week.

He was advised that the library of the new college seminary to be built in Menlo Park in conjunction with the St. Mary's Cathedral and Archdiocesan Fund Campaign, will be called the Rev. Thomas J. McKeon Memorial Library.

The honor was arranged by 162 of Reverend McKeon's parishioners. They contributed $112,000 in memorial gifts and asked that the funds help build the library in their pastor's name.

The funds were collected under the direction of David Ingram, 136 Encinal Drive, Atherton, and fund chairman for the Church of the Nativity; Mrs. Thomas J. Kearney, 300 Arden Road, Menlo Park, parish campaign secretary, and General Redmond Kernan, 18 Fair Oaks Lane, Atherton, memorial gift chairman.

Plans for the construction of the library have not yet been announced.

Born in San Francisco, Reverend McKeon was ordained a priest in 1914 after attending St. Patrick's Seminary. He was appointed pastor of the Church of the Nativity in 1934.

The St. Mary's Cathedral and Archdiocesan Fund Campaign started last October following the destruction of the cathedral by fire Sept. 7. Designed to raise $15,000,000, the campaign will build three new high schools and a home for the aged in addition to the new college seminary library and cathedral.

Land 'Freeze' Prompts Action

Menlo Park and the State Division of Highways will begin serious discussions of a Willow Freeway agreement — covering the route portion from Bayshore Freeway to the western city limits — in two or three months.

The rest of the route which lies within the city limits cuts through the Kavanaugh Industrial Park.

There, the state has agreed to freeze current condemnation proceedings against the Kavanaugh interests pending development of a Menlo Park traffic circulation study.

Thus, a freeway agreement covering closure of streets and creation of interchanges for this part of the route won't be discussed until the city traffic studies are completed, which may be some time in the future, Johnson said.

How this agreement between the city and state to temporarily halt freeway design planning for the east-of-Bayshore area affects the unincorporated area of East Palo Alto, through which this route must pass, was not immediately indicated.

In the case of East Palo Alto, the state will have to obtain a freeway agreement with the county.

In discussing the issue at Tuesday night's city council study meeting, Johnson pointed out that the state had begun condemnation proceedings against a 16-acre chunk of Kavanaugh property.

INTERCHANGE SITE

Included is sufficient land to design a traffic interchange with the extension of Ivy Drive, a street which does not now exist.

This was the point which Councilman Ira Bonde protested against last week. He said the city had not yet signed a freeway agreement involving interchanges and their placement.

Johnson said he was told by the highway men that "they had no choice" but to condemn since the Kavanaugh interests were preceding with construction plans for the area.

The city manager pointed out that the county master plan for East Palo Alto provides for a freeway interchange well to the northeast of the Ivy Drive extension. He said this looked to him to be a better arrangement.

Several city councilmen also indicated they liked the idea of pushing the interchange beyond the SP railroad tracks.

It would serve an industrial road linking old Willow Road, the freeway and eventually circle around East Palo Alto to Embarcadero Road.

Gerald Wagstaffe, attorney for the Kavanaughs, said talks with the state were imperative because future development of the land depends on access from the freeway and railroad.

He said that the Ivy Drive extension isn't particularly beneficial to the property and wouldn't be built by the industrial development firm.

And the city doesn't yet know if the Ivy Drive extension will be included in future city street and highway planning, Johnson said. Thus, if the state wants it, the state will have to build it, he said.

Johnson said he felt it would be wise to have the state concentrate on the design of the western portion of the freeway while these east-of-Bayshore problems were thrashed out.

Valley Eyes Annex

Portola Valley's Action Group

Portola Valley's Action Group for Local Control this week reaffirmed its study of annexation to Woodside despite recent advice that it should shoot for incorporation.

Dr. Nevin Hiester, spokesman for the group, said exploration of annexation would not be shelved unless such a plan for the valley proved to be clearly unfeasible.

With this in mind, the action group Tuesday decided to put together a detailed report on its annexation studies for formal presentation to the Woodside Planning Commission. The group will meet again tonight to determine what should be included in the report and when it would be best to approach the commission.

Dr. Hiester and other action group representatives last Thursday were advised to study incorporation first when they appeared before the Woodside Planning Commission.

The urging came from Thomas F. Mason, planning comsioner, who stated that "getting the issues out in the open is terribly important, and this is best done in an incorporation battle."

However, L. W. Lane of the action group countered that annexation is as advantageous to Woodside as to Portola Valley. He stressed that the two communities already have overlapping school and fire districts, that Portola Valley taxes have a bearing on Woodside taxes, and that the valley's density affects Woodside traffic.

Also important, he said, was that Woodside zoning could be endangered by commercial and high density encroachment from the valley area.

Election Races Take Shape in School Areas

Races developed in most area school district board elections late last week, as candidates filed at the last minute.

In Menlo Park, where two incumbents previously had announced their intention to seek re-election, two last-minute filings brought the total number of contenders to four; in the Sequoia High School District, seven candidates finally signed to run against incumbents Helen Kerwin and John Cost.

Contests didn't develop in Las Lomitas or Woodside elementary school districts but there were to be contests in Ravenswood and Portola Valley.

Taylor, 2 Lowery Drive and the father of four, twice served as chairman in behalf of last year's unsuccessful permissive tax measure campaigns; he later served as a member of the district budget study committee.

He also serves as a representative of the public, meeting with the professional compensation committee.

The father of four, Taylor said he was running because he felt it provided an area of "virtually unlimited challenge." He said he was prepared to devote to the job the effort commensurate with its importance.

A graduate of Harvard and the Yale School of Law, Taylor is associated with the firm of Pillsbury, Madison and Sutro in San Francisco. He has regularly attended meetings of the board for the past several years.

Wraner, 35, resides at 247 Atherton Ave. in Atherton with his wife and four children. A stockbroker with the J. Barth & Co. offices here, he is a graduate of Cornell University .

"Having three children in school, I have in the past several months become interested in the schools' programs and education in general," Warner said.

"I also am concerned over unification plans now going forward."

"I would like to offer myself as a member of the board, as a matter of civic responsibility, since the education of our children is vital to the maintenance of our system of government and way of life.

Aid Stanford:

Eugene Bishop, Weldon Gibson Named Aides for PACE Drive

STANFORD — Eugene Bishop of Atherton, president of Peninsula Newspapers, Inc., yesterday was named general campaign chairman for the Peninsula in Stanford's $100 million PAC Eprogram.

Peninsula Regional Chairman Noel Eldred announced the key appointment for the final and most intensive phase of the Stanford fund drive to finance its "Plan of Action for a Challenging Era." The goal is greater excellence in higher education.

Eldred said Chairman Bishop, 90 Queens Court, will direct person-to-person appeals to more than 12,000 Stanford alumni and parents—the largest such concentration in the United States. The Peninsula campaign area extends from South San Francisco through Sunnyvale.

Assisting Bishop as vice-chairman for the area general campaign will be Dr. Weldon B. Gibson, executive vice-president of Stanford Research Institute and a member of its board of directors.

First task for the new area chairman will be to enlist able volunteer campaign leaders in each of the 12 communities included in the area, and two others to head committees which will make special appeals to parents.

STANFORD GRADS

Both Bishop and Dr. Gibson are Stanford educated and have wide connections and interests in the Peninsula area. 'Gene Bishop was graduated in economics in 1931 and had preliminary training for his journalistic career as business manager of the Stanford Daily in his senior year.

Starting with the Palo Alto Times as an advertising salesman in 1931, he rose to advertising manager, then publisher of the paper, now heads Peninsula Newspapers, Inc., which includes the Palo Alto Times, Redwood City Tribune, and Burlingame Advance-Star. A national leader in the publishing field, he is a director of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. He has also served as president of the California Newspaper Publishers Association, of the Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club.

Weldon "Hoot" Gibson, a native Texan, took his undergraduate college work at Washington State College, graduating in 1938. He obtained his M.B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Stanford, in 1940 and 1949, respectively, from the Graduate School of Business and was a lecturer there on transportation and business economics from 1947 through 1952.

Associated with the Stanford Research Institute since its founding in 1946, he has played significant part in its rapid growth and developing international prominence. He is a world traveler for the Institute, and an authoritative writer on global geography, both economic and political, and on industrial planning.

Stanford's PACE Program was launched in 1961 as a three-year effort to finance plans for a strengthened faculty, better library and student services, and much needed new construction and building renovations. It was sparked in part by a five-year grant of $25 million in 1960 from the Ford Foundation, which offered to furnish one dollar for each three raised by Stanford from other private sources.

In Ravenswood District:

Fall Bond Vote Discussed

What's the reaction of Ravenswood City School District voters to holding an October election aimed at qualifying the district for a state loan to build and improve school facilities?

This is the question which Supt. of Schools Frederic V. Moore is asking himself—and the public—this week.

The superintendent would like some means of determining the public's feeling about an election and said he'd welcome questions from the floor at upcoming school board meetings.

Moore is preparing a recommendation to the trustees asking that they set a date for an election to bond the district to legal capacity.

He is considering two dates for recommendation — Tuesday, Oct. 1, or Tuesday, Oct. 8.

The superintendent emphasized that the final decision on a date — or if the election should be held at all — rests with the trustees.

"I believe I can have a recommendation for the board by late this month or mid-April," Moore said.

Heer is the proposal as Moore sees it at present:

A $800,000 bond election would qualify the district for construction of a 12-room elementary school in the Brentwood School area, a multi-use building at Garden Oaks School, and shower facilites at Menlo Oaks School.

Construction of the new school would free classrooms in other schools for library use. And library rooms could be built at still others. (Moore emphasized that the locations of possible library construction are still being studied.)

Moore said he realizes that selling the public on a construction program may have its difficulties.

"Our student population has settled down and is not now in the process of growing a lot," he said.

However, this very fact makes it possible for the district, for the first time in 15 years, to do "several things as far as a building program is concerned that could enrich, and in certain areas, equalize educational facilities here . . . and do it without an increase in the district tax rate."

Moore was asked where "equal facilities" are needed. He cited Garden Oaks School where students have no multi-use building or shower facilities, and Menlo Oaks School, where a "multi" building exists — but without needed showers.

Green Oaks, the other junior school, has both multi and shower facilities.

The "equal facilities" principle also applies to schools which now must cram library facilities into former storage area. Willow School, however, is able to utilize a classroom for a library, Moore said.

To some extent, Garden Oaks, a seventh-eighth grade school, is limited in program flexibility because 180 Brentwood School fifth and sixth graders must be housed there. A new school would eliminate this, he said.

The superintendent said that the district tax rate wouldn't rise because the state gives a "break" to districts on loan repayment if they are legally "impoverished" — that is, bonded to capacity.

Moore noted that the district would not have to also ask for state loan authorization. This it already has — given by the voters at the 1959 bond election.

All that keeps the district from being eligible to use it is the need to bond to capacity, he said.

Figures developed by the district Citizen's Advisory Committee this winter indicated that the district has $713,798 in bonding capacity at present.

By July 1, with the repayment of district bonds continuing at the present pace, Moore estimates that $800,000 will be more accurate.

School Board Pays $1500 In 'Firing' Case

Leslie Cleveland, 29-year-old maintenance man suspended by the Menlo Park School District Oct. 12 and formally discharged Feb. 6, this week was granted pay for the intervening period.

The sum amounts to $1500.

Cleveland was arrested at Oak Knoll school on charges of petty theft. San Mateo county Superior Court later threw the case out on the basis that the arresting officers had conducted an illegal search.

With the advice of Deputy District Attorney Howard Gawthrop, the school board Tuesday unanimously agreed to payment along with acceptance of Cleveland's resignation. The resignation was dated Feb. 6—the day of the firing by the board.

In executive session, members of the board also heard a letter from the Mid-Peninsula Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, urging reinstatement. It was signed by Richard Gould and reviewed the fact that Cleveland had not been found guilty of any crime.

Sequoia Board Gets Session On Boundaries

Another series of meetings is in order before Sequoia Union High School District trustees will make a final decision on Ravenswood and Menlo-Atherton High School boundaries for the next school year.

The board has called a special meeting for Tuesday. They'll examine the report of the recently-constituted Composite Committee on School Attendance Areas in a session beginning at 8 p.m.

It'll be open to the public and is scheduled for the Sequoia High School auditorium.

The committee is composed of representatives of homeowner groups, the NAACP and other organizations.

They've been attempting, during once-a-week meetings for two months, to hammer out an acceptable compromise plan for presentation to the board.

Deadline for submission of the committee report is Monday of next week.

Those who present it may be asked questions by the audience members and the trustees.

City CD Group Heads for Meet

Members of the Menlo Park Civil Disaster Council tonight are to hear a description of the medical self-help program of the county civil defense organization, to be presented at the San Mateo City Council Chambers.

Allan K. Jonas, director of the California Disaster office and Dr. Cecil Coggins chief of the medical and health division of the same office, will be the keynote speakers.

Members of the county steering committee will be present to answer questions.

IT'S ALL OURS . . . . . . A delegation Tuesday night visited the City Council, and left a bell of the type which originally marked the course of El Camino Real. The delegation was headed by Al Giannotti, local businessman. Moving the bell proved to be a two-man job, so it was left overnight in the council chambers. Shown hefting it are City Administrative Assistant Michael Bedwell, at left, and planner Robert Ironside. It's planned that the bell will be placed o na standard at El Camino Real and Santa Cruz Avenue, according to sources at city hall. But first, a proper standard has to be found, soil tests have to be placed on a standard at El liminaries completed.

Planners Nix Church Permit

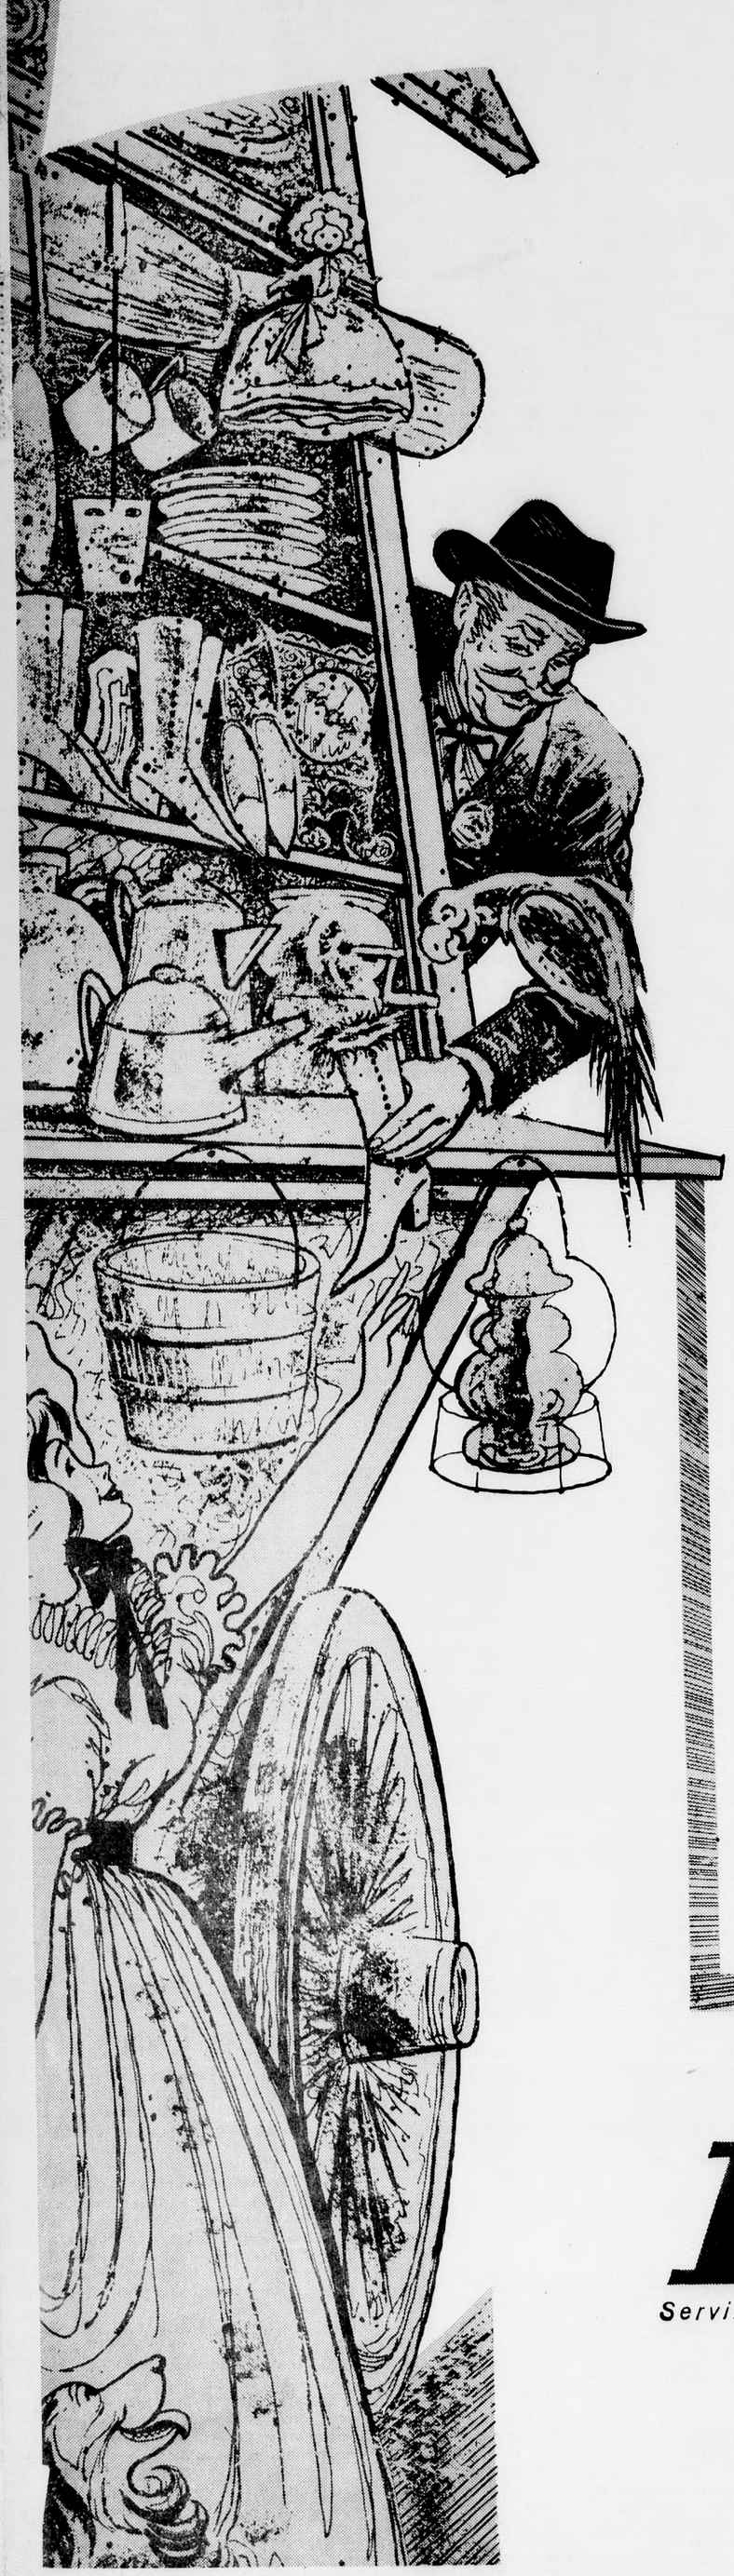

Menlo Park planning commissioners Monday night turned down a request for a permit to use a dwelling at 1382 Hollyburne Ave. as a church.

The carport of the house has been converted into an extra room, the planner noted, so that there isn't any covered offstreet parking on the site. Hence, they said, it's substandard as a dwelling and would be even more so as a place of public assembly.

The Rev. Moses Williams, applicant for the permit, said that he had contacted all neighbors including those who had protested at an earlier hearing. The latter had withdrawn protests against the proposed church, he said.

Reverend Williams said he felt that a residential area was a proper place for a church. He said there was money at hand to beautify the site and make it comply with city regulations.

A casual glance at the offerings for sale will show you what we mean. You are apt to find anything from a "Chic Sale" (Pine, Never Used) to a Jaguar (Used Only by a Little Old Lady to go to Church and back).

If there is something you need you are pretty sure to find it in our Want Ads. It is the country store of the Mid-Peninsula... the marketplace where buyers and sellers get together.

Five Injured as Auto Hits Tree After Atherton Chase

The driver of an auto in which five people were injured when it struck a tree in Atherton early Saturday will face charges of reckless driving, speeding and passing a stop sign when he gets out of the hospital.

The auto in which he and his four passengers were found at 3 a.m. Saturday came to grief at the end of a high speed chase, police said, resulting in the citations.

Blood alcohol test results will determine whether an additional charge of drunken driving will be filed, Atherton officers added.

The driver was Kenneth L. Samples, 21, attached to a Moffett Field air transport unit but now at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital. He suffered multiple cuts and bruises and a fractured right leg and was pinned behind the wheel of the car he was driving when Atherton police arrived.

Also injured and taken to Oak Knoll Hospital were James Browne, 17; Frederick Whatley, 19; Marshall Calk Jr., 19, and Ronnie L. Adams, 19, all of Moffett Field.

Police said they were alerted to the fact that a vehicle was traveling north on El Camino Real at high speed at 2:55 a.m., when Palo Alto officers radioed that they were in pursuit of such a car.

The car turned onto Watkins Avenue and, Officer Thorpe reported, was traveling at speeds up to 60 miles per hour.

At Middlefield Road, the driver failed to make the turn and hit a tree, Thorpe said.

All five occupants of the car were unconscious by the time he got his patrol car stopped, the officer reported.

'Smaller' Lot:

Planning Commission Okays Felton Lot Resubdivision

Menlo Park planning commissioners this week okayed a lot resubdivision in Felton Gables, which allows one of the last undeveloped lots in the area to be built upon, though it's of smaller size than allowed by the zoning.

Applicant for the re-cut was J. Syman, 320 Lennox Ave.

His representative stated that there are several lots under the 10,000 square feet called for in the subdivision's zoning in the area.

The re-cut, he said, will allow one 8000 square foot lot, and a 12,000 square foot lot. The owner had built an addition onto his original house which makes it impossible to subdivide into two, equal-size parcels, City Planner Robert Ironside said.

In other actions, the planners:

—granted a use permit for the operation of a nursery school of six to 10 children at 1103 Woodland Ave. A. Haffner was the applicant. Planners granted the permit contingent on proper state licensing, and erection of a fence.

—Recommended approval of a resubdivision, into two equal parcels, of a 102-foot-wide lot at 510 Gilbert St. Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan was the applicant.

—Approved two new signs for the Leonard Ely Motors auto sales and service center, at 230 El Camino Real.

—Approved the relocation of lot lines at the R. Oakford residence, 10 Maywood Lane.

—Okayed a resubdivision of a lot at 1205 Woodland Ave. Charles Rockwell was the applicant.

—Okayed plans for a new group of offices to face Burgess Drive. Richard Barnes was the applicant.

—Approved plans for a law office, to face Oak Grove Ave. between Crane Street and University Drive. City attorney John Jorgenson requested the approval.

—Set for study a proposal by David Deigelman, that a resubdivision be allowed for apartments at 565 Willow Road.

Access to the lot, which never has legally been subdivided, would have to be through the parking lot of an existing service station, the planners were told.

The rear portion of the lot is zoned for apartment development.

Blaze Damages Atherton Home

An estimated $1000 damage Tuesday afternoon resulted when a furnace shed caught fire at the Harry Kane residence, 98 Larch Way in Atherton.

The heater itself was apparently faulty, resulting in the blaze, according to firemen, who were called to the scene at 1:40 p.m.

'Fiddlefest' Is Scheduled For March 17

Seventh annual "Fiddlefest" of the Menlo Park Elementary School District will be presented Sunday, March 17, at the Encinal School auditorium, it has been announced by Miss Lucie Landen, music consultant of the Menlo Park School District.

Family groups as well as ensembles from several schools will be present to participate. In addition, a family musical group will perform.

"There is great excitement in playing in a big, fine orchestra," comments Miss Landen, "but the true value and love of music shows when it is enjoyed in the home or in informal situations."

This facet of music study, Miss Landen says, will be emphasized at the March 17 musicale, which is to begin at 3 p.m.

Groups to play include the following:

Fremont School Chamber Orchestra with 16 musicians, 11 of whom have gone or are going to Fremont School.

The Church-Adams Ensemble, composed of six boys, two each from fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Terry Church, string bass player, is manager of the group and Phil Adams is his assistant.

The Herron family trio features Cece, fifth grade violinist, accompanied by her mother, who plays the celloax and her father, who plays the piano.

An informal reception will follow the performance, which the public is invited to attend.

once there were three suns

The story goes on to say that all three suns rotated around the earth. As time passed, two of them burned out. ☐ We don't know why people believed this, but in those days people believed all sorts of things. However, in some ways their beliefs were more practical. Take the matter of money for example. They had a great passion for its safety. They locked it behind enormous doors, put it in caves, hid it—even slept with it. Even today, while we may disagree with the ancients about the tale of three suns, we do agree that money should be SAFE—without question. Nothing could be safer than a savings account at Palo Alto Mutual. Insured safe to $10,000 by a permanent agency of the U. S. Government.

The interest rate or rates stated in the bid must be in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of one per cent per annum, payable as aforesaid.

MATURITIES: Said bonds mature serially in consecutive numerical order from lower to higher (without option of prior redemption) as follows:

PRINCIPAL AMOUNT	MATURITY DATES
$ 5,000.00	FEBRUARY 1st 1964 to 1973, both inclusive

PAYMENT: Both principal and interests payable in lawful money of the United States, at the office of the County Treasurer of said County.

REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by said Board of Supervisors on behalf of said District. Such bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Said bonds were authorized by more than two-thirds of the voters voting at an election held in said District on September 18, 1962 and will be issued and sold for the purpose of raising money for authorized school purposes.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable under any Federal Income Tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a Federal Income Tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service or by the decision of any Federal Court, the successful bidder may at his option prior to the tender of said bonds by the Board of Supervisors, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The purchaser will be required to furnish his own legal opinion as to the legality of said bonds.

TERMS OF SALE

HIGHEST BIDDER: The bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The lowest net interest cost shall be computed on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD: The Board of Supervisors will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for receipt of proposals; unless such time of award is waived by the successful bidder.

Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County, and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of LAS LOMITAS School District, of SAN MATEO County."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $5,000.00 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said District from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the District on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the District. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail, upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending or threatened concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said District, or the title of the officers to their respective offices.

'Land Sharks' Need More Regulation

Attorney General Stanley Mosk, recently speaking before the San Mateo county Better Business Bureau, pointed out that buying "sight unseen" real estate is fraught with hazards. He added that he's attempting to get some legislation through, which will help him to deal with the problem.

We wish him well, at the same time recognizing that land sales swindles seem to have a traditional place in the economy of things.

Mosk told his listeners that even George Washington got taken in by sharp operators who sold him a "farm" – actually a swamp – which he'd never seen.

We think legitimate real estate developers will approve of Mosk's contemplated legislation. The money withdrawn from the genuine, bona fide real estate market by these operators may be small, but not so much so that the real workers in the legitimate trade can't use it to advantage, making them better able to give value for money.

School Taxes: A Hopeful Burden

Recently, the California Taxpayers' Association recited that the levies of school districts in San Mateo county had risen 10.6 per cent in 1962-63 as compared with the figure for 1961-62.

This is a sizeable increase in taxes. It represents an increase in the expenditure for education, and presumably also it represents growing investment in plant and program.

Though it's a big jump in expenditure on the part of the taxpayer, we seriously can't think of money being spent in a better way.

We aren't going to get out of paying taxes for the maintenance and operation of jails, hospitals and welfare programs for the hopeless; the expenditure for schools, while high, is at least positive in that it is directed toward the hopeful and positive goal of increasing the potential of the children of the community.

You may not like your tax bill when you see it. Few do. But take solace in the consideration that a major share of it is going to build – we hope – a better future.

'Four-Year' Colleges Have Advantage in Financing

During the past couple of years, Stanford University has been soliciting its friends and alumni for a sum of $100,000,000 to finance expansion of facilities to meet the growing need.

A couple of years before that, the state legislature ordained a policy for construction of state colleges: Junior colleges, they said, would take the main load of entering freshmen; the four-year schools would concentrate on expansion of the junior and senior year programs, and on graduate studies.

The juxtaposition of these two statements might not lead to any apparent conclusions or questions, until one considers that (1) Stanford appears to have every chance of achieving its $100,000,000 goal because of the loyalty of alumni and friends and (2) nobody has yet evaluated whether the loyalty of anybody attending a college for two years is going to result in a large payment "in gratitude," later on, for the education gained there.

Therein lies a big mistake in financing, made by the legislature.

Successful "old grads" of a college with traditions are apt to get pretty generous, as they evaluate the time they've got left in this veil of tears and figure that, if they don't make a substantial gift to somebody, the income tax and inheritance tax people will get the money anyhow.

But a former student of a series of state colleges, who may have passed more registrar's desks than employment interviewers', isn't that well directed. He has no "alma mater." He's going to think of all those "little" schools he attended for relatively short periods of time, as ports of call.

Affairs of State:

New Narcotics Laws

By CARL A. BRITSCHGI
Assemblyman, 26th District

Narcotics and other addictive drugs give us a whole series of legislative, law enforcement, and educational problems. They are particularly important here in California, because of the close proximity of the largest population concentration of our state to foreign sources of supply for the dangerous drugs.

These problems have become particularly acute in recent years because of the inroads illicit drug peddlers, and the organized crime rings behind them, have been able to make among our juvenile population. Our legislative committees have spent much time and effort during recent years, studying the best methods of treating addicts, and of bringing the criminal element connected with the drug traffic into court for effective penalties. Local, state and federal law enforcement authorities have worked closely with these committees.

At our 1961 session, we increased the penalties for violations of the laws relating to narcotics to clamp down tighter on the vicious drug trade. After our adjournment, the Special Study Commission on Narcotics reported on the dangers created, so far as addiction and crime are concerned, by two other classes of drugs, the hypnotics, such as seconal, and the stimulants, such as benzedrine.

Th Commission reported on the statistics submitted by law enforcement agencies as to increased use of such drugs by juveniles.

A series of measures have just been introduced in the Senate, embodying the Commission's recommendations. The measures have already been endorsed by several associations of law enforcement officials. They will first be heard by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

These bills would first set up a new statutory class of drugs, "restricted dangerous drugs." Felony penalties would be provided for illegal possession or trafficking in such drugs, and for forgery of prescriptions calling for them. Prohibited would be the refilling of prescriptions for these drugs on an "as needed basis." Another drug, now a favorite substitute among users of "hard" narcotics, and rated by authorities as potentially dangerous as morphine, would be restricted even further.

A recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court held that the states can require narcotic addicts to submit themselves for treatment of their disease in rehabilitation facilities, under penalty of law. The proposed laws would expand California's program by opening the existing facilities to addicts of the hypnotic and stimulant drugs.

Over-the-counter sales of drugged cough syrups would also be stopped by the proposed bills. The California retail drug trade has agreed that these syrups are being greatly abused by addicts, and that non-narcotic syrups of equal medicinal value are available.

Another bill in the series would govern the search of cars involved in narcotic arrest cases. It would provide that any evidence of a narcotic violation found in a car not garaged in a house would be admissible in court.

The course of these measures through our legislative processes may not be entirely smooth. Some legislators feel that more study of the problems is required. However, the law enforcement agencies have made their recommendations, which bear much weight.

Municipal Report:

'Planning' Has a History

"Planning" is a relatively new concept for cities in the United States.

Thirty years ago, such a functionary as a "city planner" was practically unheard-of; today, almost everybody of sixth grade age or older knows there is such a person in most municipal organizations, and also knows what he does.

The development of cities along unplanned lines is a western hemisphere concept, Menlo Park City Planner Robert Ironside reflected recently; other civilizations have since time immemorial practiced some form of planning.

Almost from prehistoric time the villages of the eastern hemisphere must have had some sort of planning, chiefly for defense.

Not only was the town defended in the best manner possible: there were also provisions for an adequate water supply in time of siege and most of them evidently were constructed with the number of people they'd have to contain in an emergency kept carefully in mind.

In the middle ages, Ironside says, it appears that engineering, architectural and planning functions were all coordinated when a city was designed and built.

Communities were established on hilltops to guard against invasion and malaria and also to promote drainage; the architecture was dictated by the space available, in many cases, or by the whim of the monarch in others.

Very often, Ironside says, the medieval planner, architect and engineer were all the same person. What title he may have had at court and what his relative importance was considered to be may have varied from place to place and time to time, however.

But in America, says Menlo Park's city planner, the idea of actually laying out a city with the future in mind appears to have been late in arriving.

Thinkers on the subject, he says, apparently relate this to the whole American frontier philosophy.

If mistakes were made in the use of the land — and there were many — it could easily be remedied by "moving on."

The resident of an early colonial city who found the place unliveable, unhandy and otherwise not to his liking, because it had become jammed since first built, could always move on.

Chances are, of course, that he'd make more mistakes of his own when he established himself elsewhere.

But the frontier has been disappearing more rapidly in the last 50 years than at any other time in the history of the country and with its disappearance, people have been forced to live with the mistakes of the past and have been inspired to believe that repeating them is not always necessary.

In many cases there's been talk and, in a few cases, action to obliterate the old, congested hearts of cities built in an era when nobody, apparently, planned anything.

But meanwhile engineers, architects and land developers got some pretty independent habits.

Architects, even today, are inclined to design structures which best use the property on which they are situated without reference, usually, to an "over-all master plan" or consultation with the neighbors on their ultimate plans for property development.

The engineer of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in America didn't have to be concerned with considerations of walled-town defense as his medieval counterpart, but he had to consider availability of transport for commercial purposes, water supply, and so forth.

Sometimes he forgot to be particularly careful.

The private developer preceded the city planner onto the American scene and he, too, wasn't necessarily careful, or may have been optimistic about the potential of the area he was developing.

Sometimes, too, he had mistaken ideas.

One of the most conspicuous of the latter is the idea that any property fronting on an arterial has "a great commercial future," Ironside reports.

"Having been in the business for a few years," Ironside says, "it's kind of gratifying to notice how awareness of a planner's job has grown in the minds of the general public.

Basketball Officiating

To the Editor:

The recent unsavory publicity caused by so-called "blasts" between coaches and officials in letters published by our local newspapers was unfortunate, partly because it gives high school basketball an undeserved black eye, but mostly because it overstates the case.

The talked-about cases are extremely rare, but the publicity an outsider might easily conclude that basketball coaches generally are purveyors of bad citizenship.

Those of us who have coached basketball can understand the terrific strain a sincere coach goes through when his basketball team is playing. In rapid fire, shots are missed that could have been made, players travel, passes go wild or are intercepted, defensive men develop wooden legs and, sometimes, any semblance of the team the coach had on the practice court disappears in the excitement of the game.

The emotional pull on a man who wants his team to perform well is great, especially when the opposition is having a good day, or when his team lacks its usual poise. In spite of all these upsetting factors, coupled with the other problems living creates, coaches generally exhibit relatively calm exteriors.

When many officials complain about a coach's demeanor over a period of time, I will call the coach to discuss the problem. If this does not help, and it is obvious that the officiating is the best we have to offer, I will ask the coach's administration to see if something can be done to ease the situation.

To point up the minuteness of this whole issue, let me point out that in four years, with over two hundred coaches in ten sports, I have only felt the need to take this latter action three times. And in each case the situation improved markedly, or the problem disappeared completely.

Much of importance rests on the smooth running of athletic contests. Educational institutions cannot justify interschool sports unless their teachings are worthwhile. Emotional immaturity is not one of those goals.

We can hope to improve officiating only if the game climate is such that good officials feel proud of their contribution and, if encouraged because they are good, continue from year to year. Otherwise, we are faced continually with the errors beginners must make ta learn.

Officials don't stay around long in basketball if their reasons for participating in youth athletics don't transcend their desire for monetary gain. The money involved justifies their time away from families and entertainment, however.

We are constantly striving to improve officiating in all sports. But, since officials are human, no matter how good they become, they will make bad calls.

A coach who includes in his philosophy the expectation that some bad calls will hurt his team and some will help his team can usually accept these mistakes philosophically. So can his players if he points this out early in the season and insists that they keep their minds on the job at hand rather than carrying on for some time, as though the whole game might just as well be called off.

Teaching boys to operate effectively in the face of adversity must rank at the top of the educational goal ladder for interschool sports. This idea would seem to negate a person's justification of his unseemly behavior on the basis that the officiating was lousy. It would also seem at this time, that a coach should keep a cool head because usually the crowd doesn't.

In refutation of a statement made to the press, I would like to say that I have not found the coaches' rating of officials to be biased. Coaches appreciate good officials. The coaches' efforts are ruined by bad officiating. Often a coach will comment, "We lost, but the officiating was the best we've had this year," or some such. If an official is not performing in a manner helpful to a sport, a multiplicity of ratings will show it. One or two biased reports could not affect an official's status. Incidentally, officials are rated both by the winning coach and the losing coach.

There is time to discuss the matter, but probably next season the basketball officials will administer technical fouls more liberally, not because they have "rabbit ears" or because they are "technical foul happy" but because in a certain few cases the coach's game-control responsibilities will fall on their shoulders.

Players who emote after a foul call are not in the coach's control. Players who delay the game by withholding the ball from play have not been taught the game of basketball completely. A technical foul here would simply insure by emphasis the gaining of this knowledge.

Technicals should not be considered slaps on the wrist, but as penalties for incorrect performance as in overguarding or failing to stop at a stop sign. No rancor need be involved, just a raising of standards in the proper carrying on and control of the game.

The coaches who have insisted on these standards in the past have a legitimate complaint on several bases when other coaches and their teams display improper conduct.

Perhaps insisting on these standards will give direction to new coaches coming into our leagues, lead to uniformity of thought, a better educational program and eliminate the need for an official to take a parting shot at the high school basketball situation when he decides to retire.

Sincerely,
P. J. Hannig, Commissioner
Peninsula Athletic Leagues

Menlo Park Man Is Demo Council Prexy

Walter Golden of Menlo Park has been installed as president of the San Mateo County Council of Democratic Clubs and has urged county Democrats to lay the groundwork and organization to elect Democrats to county, state and national offices.

Golden, 412 Durham Ave., heads an organization made up of delegates from the county's 19 Democratic clubs. He succeeds Anthony Governale of San Bruno.

Other officers, all elected for two-year terms, are: Edward Solomon, Daly City, vice president; Mrs. Alexandra Dolmatz, San Carlos, recording secretary; Mrs. Pearl Farkas, Redwood City, corresponding ecretary; Joseph Fulford, Pacifica, treasurer; James Madison, 382 Leland Ave., Menlo Park, legal counsel; Jules Hipshman, San Mateo, parliamentarian.

In his statement to the county Democratic council, an affiliate of the California Democratic Council, Golden declared "California is the number one state in the Union and as such, the most important state in the election of national officers. But California can only be as successful in this task as the enthusiasm and efforts of grass-roots Democratic groups can make it.

"For the first time in the memory of any of us, we have a Democratic assemblyman, Leo Ryan, in the state legislature and so, for the first time, we have a framework of leadership around which we can build a sound county political organization that will enable us to continue to elect Democrats to county, state and national offices."

Frontage Road Seen Unlikely If Alpine Remains County

The opinion that San Mateo County would be unable to create a frontage road for Alpine Road if it eventually becomes an improved county route was expressed this week by Don Wilson, county engineer.

In speaking Monday night before directors of the Portola Valley Assn., Wilson said present county funds are insufficient for such a second road. The association favors a frontage road because of the many side roads feeding into Alpine.

The county engineer said a parkway development for Alpine Road, straddling Los Trancos Creek, would be desirable from an esthetic standpoint. However, he pointed out that transportation facilities must come before esthetics in the allocation of funds.

If the future Willow Route Freeway follows Alpine Road, Wilson state it would probably curve up through the former Neylan Estate property.

He reiterated that the county will seek a $35 million bond issue for new countywide road construction in next June's election.

An additional $251,753 went to the budgets of Bay Area-side agencies earmarked for services within the county.

The admissions and allocations group included $14,587 from 1962 contingency funds and the return of agency surpluses in their division of funds for county organizations.

YOUTH & RECREATION

Boys Club of San Mateo, $22,500; Boy Scouts of America, San Mateo County Council, $102,500; Camp Fire Girls, San Mateo County section, $9700; Girl Scouts, Sequoia Council, $39,500; Peninsula Jewish Center, $13,500; Woodside Community Foundation, $1000; YMCA-Peninsula, $55,000; YMCA-Sequoia, $30,500; YMCA-Carlmont, $17,500.

Thus, the total monies allocated for services in San Mateo County, including the carryover and contingency funds from the previous year, was $833,838.

The Bay Area United Crusade declared in a news release that expenses entailed in conducting the drive were "again the lowest in the nation."

Nils Ecklund, 1963 United Bay Area Crusade president, said that the total campaign cost was 6.2 cents on every dollar raised. Of that figure, 3.8 cents was used for budgeting and administrative expenses, he said.

Church Project Doubles in Size

The capacity of a projected church building on Bay Road frontage just south of Marsh Road has been doubled by the San Mateo County Planning Commission.

A revised use permit application submitted by the Menlo Full Gospel Church, calling for expansion of the capacity from 100 to 196 persons, received commission approval. The commission had originally granted a use permit for the 100-capacity church.

The revised plans also showed the church building located further away from nearby residences on Christopher Way and Callie Lane. The commission expressed pleasure with this.

The church will sit on the Hetch-Hetchy Water Co. right-of-way. Landscaping and parking requirements have been met in the plans submitted, county planners said.

Local Girls Being Tapped For Contest

Candidates from throughout San Mateo County are now being sought to enter in the Miss San Mateo County Pageant, local preliminary to the Miss California and Miss America contests, according to the San Mateo Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the pageant.

This year's gala pageant will be held in Burlingame High School auditorium May 11, and will select a Queen to reign as Miss San Mateo County 1963 from among 14 finalists selected by the entries committee. The winner chosen as the most beautiful and talented contestant will win a $200 scholarship, and many other awards and career opportunities, and will automatically be a candidate, as Miss San Mateo County in the Miss California contest to be held in Santa Cruz in June. The girl crowned as Miss California will receive a $1500 scholarship and compete in Atlantic City for the Miss America crown.

Entries chairman Mrs. Peter Gumina of the Junior Chamber Auxiliary, has requested every San Mateo county resident from Westlake to Menlo Park, who knows a personable, beauteous and talented young lady to suggest her to the committee as a possible contestant in the local pageant. Final deadline for applicants is March 8.

Candidates for the pageant and anyone wishing to suggest a prospective candidate should immediately contact, by mail or phone, Mrs. Peter Gumina, entries chairman, 2041 Kings Lane, San Mateo, FI 1-7375, before the March 8 deadline.

'Sunset' Features Local Fixtures

A bridge which crosses a creek leading to the Edwin W. Bennett home in Woodside, and a geodesic stable built out plastic at the J. W. Gilmore home, are featured in the current issue of Sunset magazine, published here.

The bridge is composed of the bed of a flatcar obtained from a railroad equipment dealer; the home was installed by a swimming pool dealer, according to the magazine, and was erected in one day.

Hiller Co. Plans New Building

The 100-by-200 foot structure will be a standard factory building. It is one of several being built at the helicopter plant in a current expansion program.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eichler:

Atherton Pair Gives $150,000 To Stanford School of Law

STANFORD—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Eichler of Atherton have pledged approximately $150,000 to the Stanford Law School to support its work "in the field of constitutional law and civil rights."

"We are doing this because we believe it is mort than just a saying that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," said Eichler, in the letter accompanying his pledge to Stanford's current $100 million PACE Program (Plan of Action for a Challenging Era).

He expressed the view that institutions of higher learning are "one of the most important sources for the instillation of this spirit in our citizenry," and said Stanford was chosen for the gift because it has long shown evidence of enlightened leadership in this field.

The Eichlers have been "cloise neighbors" of Stanford for 15 years, Eichler said. They have a home in Atherton as well as one in San Francisco, and the headquarters of the Eichler home building business is in Palo Alto. Eichler is a member of Stanford Associates, an organization devoted to fostering the University's continuing financial support.

A first payment upon the pledge, already received, is being used to establish the Joseph L. Eichler Fund. Stanford is authorized to use the income from the fund and eventually the principal as well, if this step should be recommended jaintly by the President of the University and the Dean of the Law School.

Stanford officials and the Law School faculty voiced keen satisfaction over the gift and its designated purpose.

"Eichler could not have selected a more important area of the Stanford Law School's work to support," commented the School's acting dean, Prof. John R. McDonough.

"How to strike a balance wisely and justly between personal liberty and public order is one of the most perplexing problems of our time. The efforts unbiased scholars at Stanford and elsewhere contribute significantly both to public understanding of the problem and to its solution.

"Eichler's gift will enable the Stanford Law School to make a significantly larger contribution to this effort than would otherwise be possible. It will therefore serve both the public interest and the growth and development of the University."

The donors imposed no restriction upon use of the funds by the Law School other than the general designation of the work area to be supported. Dean McDonough pointed out that this will permit usefully wide latitude in choosing the best measures available at a given time to carry out the general purpose of the gift.

Seminars by distinguished visitors, special lecture series, conferences which could include elements of the public as wel las lawyers and jurists, and subsidized publication of highly valuable writings with small potential for commerce success are some of the suggested programs.

A professor capable of producing a fine book or series of articles dealing with phases of civil rights and constitutional law might obtain financing for research assistance and some free time for such a project, the Dean said.

EYES are known as the windows of the soul . . .

Tradition says grey ones are wise, brown ones mischievous, blue ones true, and black ones mysterious. Whatever their color, your eyes can be your greatest beauty asset. Ideally they should be large, wide-apart and sparkling, with arched brows and curling lashes. If yours are not so by nature, you can still achieve the effect. Proper application of make-up, with browline extended back, and eyeshadow and mascara emphasizing the outer corners, make your eyes seem wider apart. So will tweezing a neat space between the brows, and avoiding frown wrinkles there. Eyes will appear larger if the brows are tweezed cleanly from below, with white liner edging the lid. Eye shadow, liquid liner, and the use of a lash-curler will enhance the effect. Good health and good humor will provide the sparkle.

M-A Mermen 'Best Ever'—Again

First things first. Before Menlo-Atherton swimming coach Bob Gaughran turns his chargers loose on some more South Peninsula Athletic League records he has his sights set on some of a little different type in the Bears' opening meet this Saturday.

M-A will meet the Stanford Frosh at Stanford's 20-yard Encina pool Saturday morning at 10 with an eye toward bettering three of the national records his Bears set there last year for a 20-yard pool. These were three of five national records these Bears set last year.

Gaughran's small but highly-talented corps of varsity swimmers is probably the best ever assembled on one team on the Peninsula—perhaps anywhere.

He said it last year and he said it again this week—"I think this is the best team I've ever had." The SPAL and North Coast Section championships the Bears gathered last season bore him out then; they may well do it again.

The records the Bears gathered last year in almost every meet are so voluminous as to become boring reading if listed one after another. Almost every SPAL and NCS record was and is in jeopardy, along with every special event the Bears get into—this one Saturday is one.

Let's let it go with the ones they're shooting for Saturday—the others will come in due time.

Senior freestyler - backstroker Greg Buckingham will be after the 200-yard freestyle record. That he doesn't already own in a 20-yard pool.

Sophomore Dick Roth is going after the 160 individual medley, which Buckingham does own, in a time of 1:37.3.

Veteran senior John Mortenson and soph Russ Kidder, NCS class B sprint champ, will go for the 40-yard freestyle record.

Buckingham, senior Jim MacKenzie, Mortenson and Kidder are a cinch for the 160 freestyle relay, which they themselves set last year in 1:10.0, with Buckingham, Mortenson and the graduated Bob Laird and Bob Plate.

The latter two represent the Bears' major graduation losses from last season. Diver Julian Krug has transferred to Blackford High in Santa Clara.

Aside from this Saturday, Gaughran is more sure that Roth is going to crack his own prep 400-yard freestyle national record this season. He set it in the NCS Group II swimoffs last season with a 3:59.7 effort.

Other returning veterans who should help include junior Steve Hansen in the backstroke and butterfly and senior Pete Ready in the 200 and 400 freestyles.

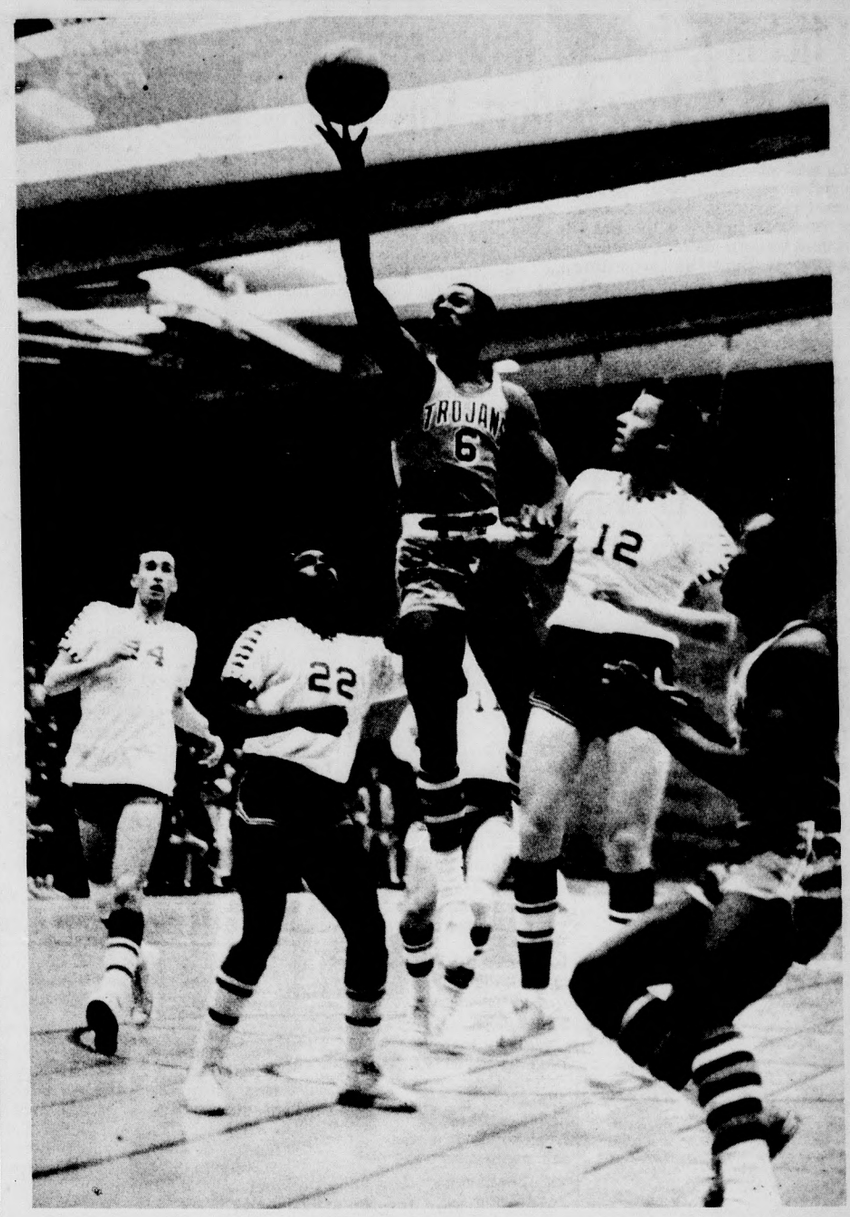

Doug McLean, a transfer student, will add depth in the breaststroke. Frosh Mike Martin will take over diving duties for the departed Krug.

As for the class B and C swimmers — Gaughran doesn't want to think about that until their first meet next week. There aren't many and he hasn't seen too much of them yet. Soph sprinters Kim Burns and Gordon Gourdin are the only experienced ones back with the B's.

For the Bears, the eggs are all in one basket. But Gaughran thinks that Palo Alto is the only SPAL team that'll give his Bears much of a go.

40th YEAR—No. 10 SECOND SECTION

DURING . . .
. . . happier times Tuesday, Ravenswood High's Nate Branch (6) layed one up to help take Ravenswood to a 38-26 halftime lead over Sequoia in the playoff game to see who goes to the PBT at Stanford starting today. Sequoia finally won 59-57. Looking on where Ravenswood's Jim Fields (right) and Sequoia's Jeff Cudworth (24), David Armstrong (22) and Eddie McGuire (12).

Tribe Trips Troy for PBT Selection

By DAVE GOODWIN

The Sequoia High Cherokees made Peninsula Basketball Tournament spectators out of the prep cage extravaganza's defending champions Tuesday.

Using the free throw with great success, the men from Redwood City caught the Ravenswood High Trojans with just 1:50 left in the game and went on to win it 59-57 at the Menlo-Atherton High gym.

Thus the Trojans, who won the PBT in a great five-overtime game with St. Elizabeth last year, will have to pay their way into Stanford Pavilion for the tourney, which starts tonight.

This was a playoff game between the teams which became SPAL co-champions after Ravenswood defeated Menlo-Atherton and the Cherokees rapped Cubberley High in the final week of regular seasen play.

For those still interested in the big prep tournament, today's list of games looks like this:

Aragon, Mid-Peninsula League, and Camden, West SCVAL, 4 p.m. game; Westmoor, North Peninsula League, and St. Elizabeth, Catholic Athletic League, 5:30 p.m. game; Sequoia, SPAL, and Lincoln of San Jose, Mount Hamilton Athletic League, 7 p.m. game; Gilroy, Coast Counties Athletic League B division, and Sunnyvale, North SCVAL, 8:30 p.m.

The semi-finals will be played tomorrow with the title game due at 8:30 p.m. Saturday night.

A host of Trojans made their prep basketball swan-song in the Tuesday playoff. Nate Branch, Milky Johnson, Jimmy Fields, Art Crum and Len Wiley have completed their eligibility, as have reserves Ray Horn and John Perez.

It was an unhappy way to do it, but Branch, quoting a familiar phrase, put it this way: "Someone had to lose."

While the Trojan dressing room was quiet as a church, the Cherokee side of the Menlo-Atherton shower facilties was pretty lively.

The heroes there were the great Jeff Cudworth, who scored 22 points, including some vital free throws in the final minutes; Gary Frohlich, a 15-point producer with good outside shooting; 6-5 center Marlin Roehl, who had 11, and guard Dave Armstrong, who overcame some costly mistakes to score 10 points.

For Ravenswood, the scoring standout was Millison (Milky) Johnson, who ended one of the greatest basketball careers in recent prep history. Johnson, who scored 17 in the first half, ended with 23, tops for both teams.

This 5-9 cager played four seasons of basketball at Ravenswood — and has been on a championship team every time. Two of the titles were in the D league and two were with the varsity.

Branch ended the game with 16 points and 22 rebounds. He has also been a four-year standout at Troy ever since he broke into the starting lineup of the Ravenswood B team as a freshman.

Crum played one of his best games of the season for Ravenswood and it turned out to be his last. He tallied 10 points and hauled in 17 rebounds.

Also scoring for Troy were Mel Easley and Wiley with four each.

Trojans taking control in a hurry, rolling up an 8-2 edge on two goals by Johnson and one each by Easley and Branch.

But the Sequoians recovered their poise quickly, recouping with goals by Cudworth, Armstrong and Frohlich. Suddenly, it was 10-10 with 1:43 left in the first quarter. Johnson unloaded a bomb from 25 feet for a 12-10 Trojan lead at the first buzzer of the game.

The second quarter was a stampede for Troy. Crum picked up six points with three fine fielders — a follow shot, hook shot, and twisting jumper. Johnson was active, too, hitting from way out there on several jumpers. He scored eight points in the final three minutes, with the final two-pointer being a 30-foot sidearm, leaping jump shot that somehow found the bucket.

But the second half—well, that was another ball game. The first four minutes of the third period found the Cherokees choking off all Trojan scoring attempts while Cudworth collected six straight points. Armstrong and Frohlich hit, then Armstrong's foul shot made it 38-27.

The Trojans regained the initiative when Branch twisted up with a jumper and Johnson faked his way past Armstrong for two. When the quarter ended, Ravenswood had a slender 48-43 edge.

A few moments later, Troy held a 54-47 lead. But the tide was turning once again and this time couldn't be stemmed.

Frohlich, Cudworth and Armstrong scored in that or-

M-A Trackmen Mount Blocks For First Running Tomorrow

There are no record-setters —yet— among the Menlo-Atherton High tracksters who are about to get back into the starting blocks for another South Peninsula Athletic League season, starting tomorrow.

But coach Sam Lugonja is about to field a strong group of sprinters in all three divisions, varsity, B and C, to try to dumbfound the Carlmont Scots in the first SPAL dual meet of the season, starting at 3:15 p.m. at the M-A track.

Lugonja has a good many boys back from last year's squads. There's plenty of experience and speed, considerably improved, Lugonja thinks, over last year.

The Bears' poor 1-6 SPAL dual meet record, good for seventh place, speaks of their success last time out. The B's placed second at 6-1, right behind undefeated Ravenswood, while the C's were 3-4 and fifth.

M-A's varsity should be strong right up through the 440, and in the broad and high jumps and pole vault, Lugonja said this week. Also there's quite a lively fight going on for the 880 relay positions.

Ricky Wade, M-A's wiingest sprinter last season, will be back at the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Joining him will be Kent Gilmore and Bert Warden, up from the B's and sprinter-hurdler Bill Lavin.

Pole vaulter Bob Simpson isn't figured for a back seat to anybody in Lugonja's book. Other field strength will come from discus thrower Ed Thunen, shot man Greg d'Andre and broad and high jumper Jack Chambers. Simpson's best mark last year was 11-6 in the the SPAL Finals.

Middle distancers will be Claibon Mallett and Scott Schaefer in the quarter-mile, Dan Murphy and Italian exchange student Fulvio Crisitiani in the 880 and Bob Blake tackling the mile. Greg Druehl, up from the B's, will do the high hurdles.

Class B veteran Terry Higashi, who gets below eight seconds in the 75 dash regularly, heads a fast crop of B's. He also does the 150 in around 15. Rod Weems in the 330 and Mike Monroe in the 1320 have been looking good among the many new B faces.

The same goes for Vernon Thomas, who has been doing very well in the C workouts. But here again the Bears have a blooded veteran in Dan McGraw, another 75 and 150 sprinter who also does the broadjump, excelling at all three.

Other than these, the new faces among the lightweights will have to sort themselves in the meets, Lugonja stated.

This will be the first prep meet for Carlmont. Coach Loren Lansberry says his troops are still a year away from great things, but the Scots' 78¾-34¼ loss to College of San Mateo Monday is no indication.

RHS Baseball Varsity Hits Field Friday

There aren't too many men on coach Tom Rivera's baseball varsity roster — 14, to be precise — but the Ravenswood High coach thinks he has the makings of a pretty fair crew.

He'll find out more about the Trojan squad when they meet Cupertino High Friday on the Santa Clara valley team's home diamond at 3:15 p.m.

This is the first game in a schedule which calls for 18 contests and entry in the Menlo-Atherton Easter vacation tournament.

Rivera will lead his charges into SPAL action on Friday, March 29, with a game at Woodside High. Prior to that, the boys will have met Awalt (Thursday, March 14, at Ravenswood), Cupertino again (Tuesday, March 19, here), and Mountain View (Thursday, March 21, there).

The Trojans will, of course, miss Jim Tabor, the two-time all-SPAL standout third baseman and pitcher, and first-sacker Jim Smith, both lost via graduation.

But they do have a number of good ball players coming back, including hard-hitting first baseman Harry McMillen, southpaw curve-baller Rick Deutscher, who is only a junior, shortstop Chris Kendall, and soph center fielder Mel Easley, who had a fine season in the Babe Ruth League last summer.

Steve Brownell, last year's starting catcher, is pressing Lark. And Bill Gleaves and Steve Smothers were battling for the first-team second base spot as of late last week. Rick Litteral also figures in Rivera's outfield plans.

When they aren't pitching, Deutscher and Williams may also see outfield duty. Sakamoto can play the shortstop position, too.

Looks Good So Far:

Bear Netters Jingle Bells for First Win; Now for the SPAL

Off to a very promising start, coach Art Boettcher's Menlo-Atherton High tenns squad starts South Peninsula Athletic League competition tomorrow with rugged Cubberley at the South Palo Alto courts, starting at 3 p.m.

The promise showed through when the Bears tripped up the Bellarmine Prep crew from San Jose 5-2 Tuesday at M-A in their first meeting of the season. The loss ended an 18-match winning skein for the Bells, whose last win was over the same Cubberley squad M-A takes on tomorrow.

Well, not quite the same group. Missing in Cubberley's 7-0 loss to Bellarmine was George Todd, No. 1 prep singles player in Northern California, defending North Coast Section and SPAL singles champ and holder of a half dozen summertime championships.

Boettcher's veterans didn't waste too much time getting at the Bells, however. First singles Doug Dawson, a junior in his third year at that spot, was upset by Bellarmine's Mike Fenerin, but the rest of the singles fell to M-A.

From second through fifth singles it was Dave Brown, Steve Berg, Steve Taft and Torlen Wade, the latter two winning in straight sets. Only Wade is not a returnee from last year's team, which finished at 3-3 and in fourth place in the SPAL. He's a transfer from New York.

A veteran doubles team also won for M-A, with John Katonah and Stan Cross beating Denny O'Connor and Mike Winter. Second doubles, with Ben Streit and frosh Nelson Randick, didn't do so well with the Bells' Chris Dempsey and Chris Tescher, losing 4-6, 7-5, 12-10 in the day's longest overtime match.

Boettcher is looking for tough times in the league this year, which he thinks will be stronger throughout. But then his Bears are too, he says. Particularly well balanced between singles and doubles, there'll be no more tailing off after second singles, he said this week.

Other SPAL coaches, in point of fact, rate Woodside, Palo Alto and Cubberley to finish strong but all consider M-A a darkhorse.

For Woodside Thinclads:

SPAL Foes Might Be Tough

Woodside High track coach Joe Greggans is tooting his horn softly this week, preparing for his South Peninsula Athletic League opening meet with Sequoia High tomorrow at 3:15 at the Woodside oval.

After looking over some of Sequoia's times in their 57-56 loss to Capuchino Monday and comparing them with his own team's sweep of a triangular opener Tuesday with Hillsdale and Lincoln of San Francisco and Hillsdale, some of the glitter is gone.

True, the Woodsiders did win all three divisions. The varsity took off with 63 points to Hillsdale's 46 and Lincoln's 31. The Wildcat B's got 73½, Hillsdale 55½ and Lincoln 21. The C's were Woodside 40, Lincoln 32½, Hillsdale 23½.

But there wasn't much spectacular about it. Greggans again has moved up a flock of B's to bolster the varsity which last year ended sixth in the SPAL at 2-5. The B's were 4-3 and third and the C's are the defending champions, going unbeaten. It's the B team this year, with many of them moved up to it, that Greggans figures will hold its own.

One field record went down Tuesday. Hillsdale's Ralph Likens ran the 880 in a good 2:00.2. But otherwise the Woodsiders predominated. North Coast Section Group II champ and NCS second-placer Brian Hea, a B running varsity, copped the 440 in 52.2 but pulled up lame, causing some concern.

Best time of other Woodside winners was the 21.6 of veteran Rich Saunders in the low hurdles. Newcomer Bob Kelly won both the shot and discus with 49.3 and 148-10½ heaves respectively.

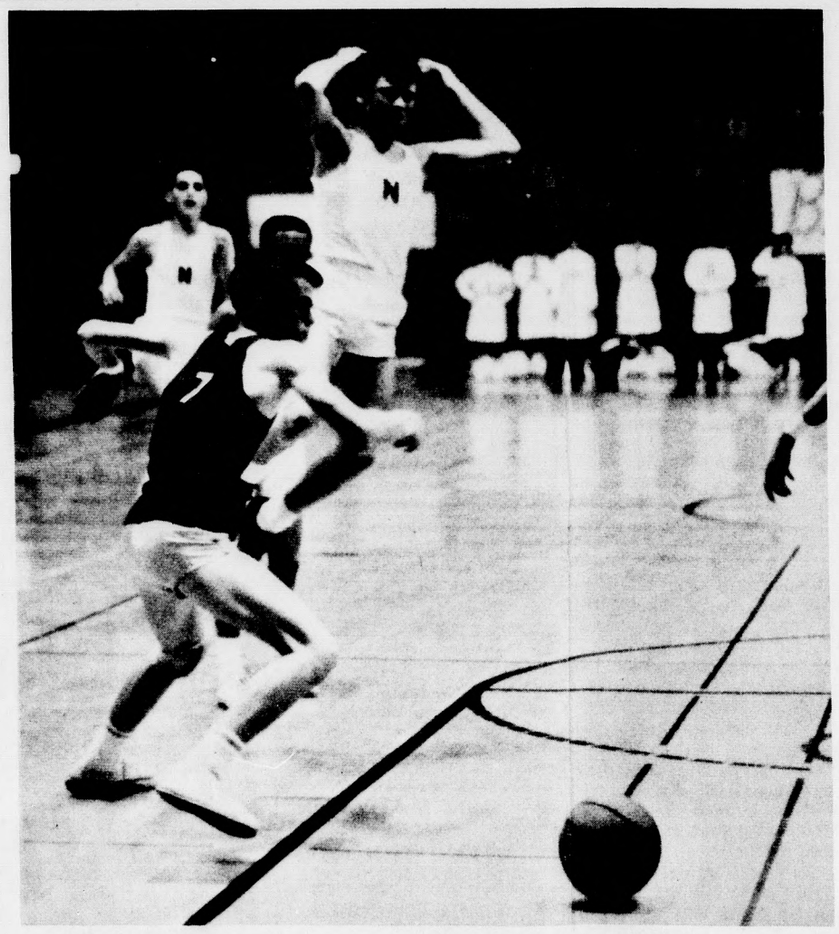

Richard Platts, an exchange student from England, showed why the B's will bear watching. He won the 660 in 1:30.8 and the 150 in 16.4 and anchored the 440 relay team to a 47.8 — not great but a good start. Tim Devlin and Lee Schiff changed off, Devlin winning the lows and taking second in the high hurdles and Schiff winning the highs and seconding the lows. Pete Villa led a 1-2-3-4 sweep for the Cats of the high jump.

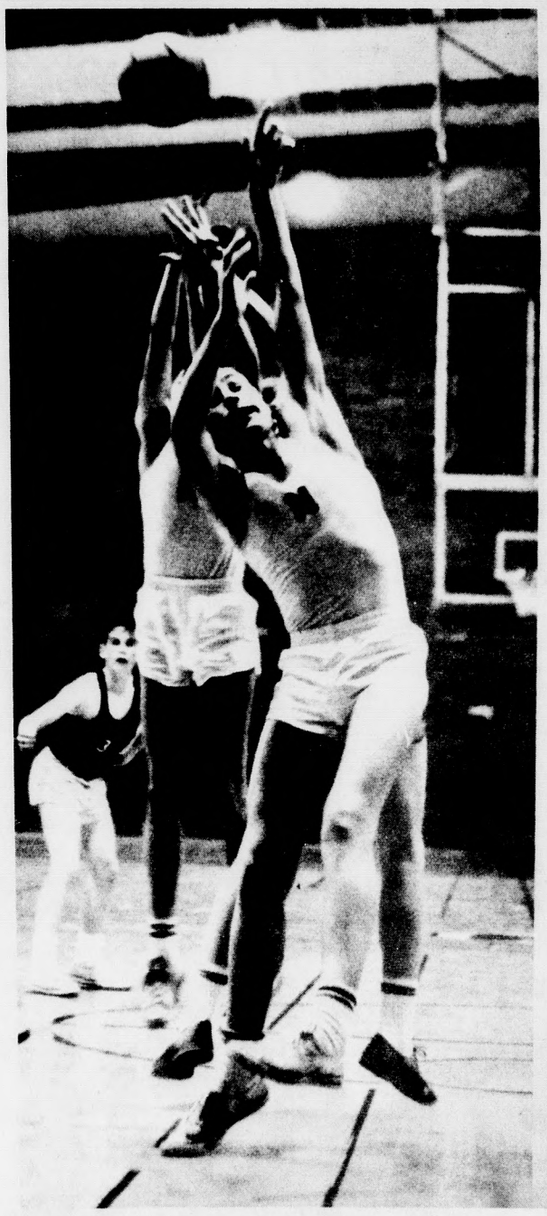

Glen Hea, Brian's little brother, stood out for the C's, winning the 660 in 1:33.6 and anchoring the 440 relay team to a 48.7.

A lot of other B's will be seeing action with the varsity, Greggans promises. Sprinters Jim Dando (100, 220) and Dan Dempsey (100, 440), middle distance men Ed Graves (C 660 champ of the SPAL last year, does anything from the mile on down —2:07 in 880 so far), John Green (in 52's in 440), Dick Hansen (880), Teall Messer (2:06 in 880) and distance trotter Ed Rehanick (mile and 880, B 1320) are some.

Varsity veteran Terry Wendt missed Tuesday's meet with an ill. He has a 52.3 in the 440 in practice. Messer also missed the meet.

C low hurdels champ Rick Rundell, Pete Pardee (75, 330 and shot), Dick Dowell (150, 660), Dave Fitzgerald (discus and shot), Gordon Stearns (150, 330 and high jump) and Mike Parker (1320) are the returnees expected to help the B's most.

ONE SHOT . . .
. . . that didn't make it up to the bucket Saturday night was this one by Nativity School's Mike Beall (arms raised in left photo), who had the ball zeroed in on a drive only to have Crocker School's Andy Szurek (7) knock it out of his hands and bouncing away. This was the class A championship game of the annual Menlo Park Recreation Department Washington's Birthday Eighth Grade Basketball Tournament at Menlo-Atherton High School gym. The tableau in the right photo is Nativity's Bob Anway (front) and Greg Smoak (left) and an unidentified Crocker player having a rebound get away from all of them while Crocker's Barry Ongerth (3) watched. Tourney story is on page 12.

Firemen Plan for Keg--er, Kegling

Plans currently are being formulated for a bowling tournament for firemen of tht Menlo Park Fire District and Palo Alto and Redwood City fire departments, fireman Bill Bradbury said this week.

The tourney will be open to friends of the participants also, and will be held some time in April. It's designed essentially for "shift" workers like the firemen, who are on duty for 24 hours at a stretch.

Pitching, Infield Improvement For M-A Baseballers This Year

With the swimming team figured to have another real good season, the Menlo-Atherton High varsity baseball team is ready to jump on the bandwagon to help make it a cheery spring at Bearville, according to the latest from baseball mentor Frank Bettencourt.

The Bears look "far better than last year's team," Bettencourt averred this week, meaning they should improve on their lacklustre 5-14 season and 3-11 South Peninsula Athletic League showings.

Bettencourt can fill the starting lineup with veterans, although they're being pushed by some promising newcomers.

Pitching will be good, Bettencourt said, with righthanders Jim Yancey and Bob Chaffet and lefty Jim King back for another crack. All are seniors.

Yancey was the Bears' winningest last year with a 2-3 record. Chaffet was losingest at 1-7 and King was 0-3. But Yancey's earned run average of only 2.80 was to his credit.

Junior Mark Ackerman, a transfer from Ravenswood and a righthander, will be along to help out the pitching corps.

The infitld looks pretty solid, Bettencourt thinks, with catcher Bill Bonnat, first sacker Dick Copenhagen, second baseman Mark Maloney, third baseman Cliff Gamble and shortstop Mike Connaway among the regulars. All are seniors.

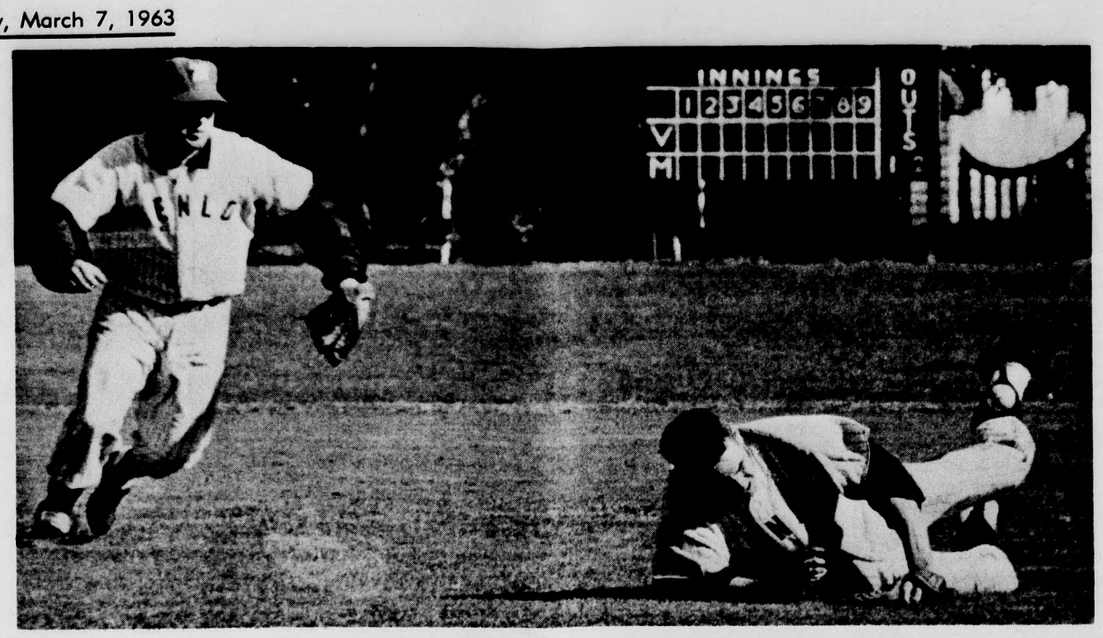

New among them will be catcher Dick Burrill, first baseman Mike Curtis, second sacker Ernie Berg and shortstops Bob Hirschboeck and Ron Montoro, third baseban John Kellam and John Hofferd. All are juniors but Kellam, a transfer from Menlo School.

Senior Dave Havard is the only outfield starter back, but a crop of promising frosh-sophs lead one to believe that the hitting of this year's bear team should be much improved—that .192 team average could stand some.

Mel Shuman, Sal Zabala, Bob Burrill, Steve Jarvis and Rod Pommes, all juniors, are these. Shuman is a particularly heavy sticker, having led the frosh-sophs last year. He also can catch.

Copenhagen's .241 and Havard's .229 were the top sticking averages among those returning this season.

The Bears open the campaign with a practice game at James Lick High in San Jose next Tuesday, March 11, at 3:30 p.m.

THE BALL . . .

Oaks third baseman Bill Hecht came over to assist. Meade almost got it but it fell in for an error. Menlo lost both games of the season-opening doubleheader to Chabot College, 5-0 and 12-3.

Wind, Errors Spell Doom in Oaks' Baseball Bows

That elusive first victory of the season still is being sought by the Menlo College baseballers, who dropped their third straight Tuesday at home, 10-5 to San Jose City College.

The Oaks travel to Soledad State Prison Saturday for a doubleheader, starting at 10 a.m. and will meet San Jose CC agaoin next Tuesday at San Jose, starting at 3 p.m.

Menlo outhit San Jose this Tuesday 11-10, but got less mileage out of theirs. Each club also committed six errors. Ken Ungar and Tim Steers each singled twice for the Oaks. Steers also relieved starter and loser Bill Hecht on the mound in the seventh after San Jose's seven-run, five-hit sixth inning had stuck him with the setback.

Menlo got four in the seventh on five hits and three errors. All the Oaks got at least one hit.

It wasn't so noisy for Menlo in their season-opening doubleheader at home Saturday, where they got only eight hits all day against visiting Chabot from San Leandro.

They lost both games, 5-0 and 12-3. The high wind made chasing flies accurately impossible and the Oaks committed 20 errors in the second game. Chabot's Billy Watson hit a two-run homer in the first game and three-runner in the second, both wind-aided.

Infielder Al Derby got two of Menlo's five first-game hits. Hecht lost the first game and Steers the second, both going all the way.

GILMAN 22ND

Ex-Woodside High cager Mike Gilman, now at College of San Mateo, finished 22nd in Golden Gate Conference basketball scoring and second at CSM, according to statistics released this week. Gilman hit 47 field goals and 30 free throws for 124 points. Leading GGC secorer was Contra Costa's Leroy Walker, with 280 points. Top CSM point-maker was Bob O'Donnell, 16th in GGC scoring with 151 points.

Great Squad—Coach Swami:

Doubles Save Wobbly Menlo

Apparently still needing a little shaking down, the Menlo School tennis team took its first halting steps toward the greatness that Coach Reynolds Crutchfield has predicted for it, by downing Robert Louis Stevenson School from Carmel at the Menlo courts Saturday 4-3.

The Acorns go again next Thursday, March 14, against perennially tough Burlingame High, part of Crutchfield's strategy to dig up the strongest opposition he can to really test his crew.

Crutchfield says he may have the best prep tennis team in the state this season, a pretty large order but one that on paper looks like it might perform that way.

Despite the loss by Pug Schoen in first singles and the absence of Bill Closs, a soph expected to handle second singles, the Acorns came back to grab the final three singles and first doubles to cop the meet.

Schoen is the No. 1 prep player in Illinois (his home is in Chicago), having won the state Junior Chamber of Commerce championship there.

But Stevenson's Jerry Hopkins nosed him out 6-1, 6-2, his third victory over a Menlo opponent in two years.

Moving down to third singles from his first singles place of last year, Skip Croninger won easily to start the ball rolling for Menlo. Croninger is Uruguayan national champ, gained because his family lives there.

Jim McKellar of Menlo Park, last summer's La Jolla Junior Tennis Championship winner, and newcomer Dennis Feldman won the other two singles handily. All but Feldman are experienced hands with the Acorns.

Closs was Palo Alto High's first singles player last year when the Vikings finished second in the league. Bruce Gordon, who lost second singles Saturday, was first singles at San Leandro High last year, they having won 36 matches in a row.

John Zinke and Sam Felix copped first doubles for Menlo but soph Rick Walter and frosh Bill Hyman couldn't cut it in second doubles.

Nevertheless, Crutchfield expects they'll come along and confidently thinks that his team is very well balanced and should handle anything the Bay Counties Athletic League can throw at it in the coming league season.

STANFORD WINNER

Former Menlo-Atherton High star Bill Lorton took the 200-yard freestyle in 1:59.1 and swam on the winning 400 freestyle relay team in Stanford's 62-32 swimming victory over California at Stanford Saturday.

Moore Hurls Acorns Past First Two Foes

Veteran righthander Hal Moore so far has been most of the Menlo School Acorns' pitching staff, collecting a pair of victories in Menlo's first two games of the season and striking out 19 batters doing it.

Moore went the route Saturday, taking Menlo to a 3-2 victory over visiting Robert Louis Stevenson School from Carmel at the Menlo field.

Moore then came on for the lasta three innings in relief of Doug Ashby Tuesday at Pescadero High and got credit for a 4-3 win.

Next action for the Acorns will be a return meeting with Pescadero at Menlo next Tuesday, March 12, at 3:15 p.m.

Doug Ashby went the first four frames Tuesday and left leading 3-2. Four singles in the second inning produced two Menlo tallies, with Les DeWitt and Ashby driving them in. Jim Odriazola scored on a wild pickoff attempt in the fourth.

Menlo won it in the sixth when Geof Provo walked, took third on an error and scored on John Robertson's single.

Mike Fluharty drove in two runs and Ron Pinkham one for Pescadero, each with a triple.

Moore struck out six in this outing, Ashby three. Rick Gladstone was the loser, although three Pescadero hurlers fanned 11 Acorns. Menlo got eight hits, Pescadero four.

Moore gave up only two hits to RLS Saturday, but four errors let in the two runs, both unearned. The Acorns tied the score at 2-2 in the sixth after being down 2-0 and won it in the last of the seventh.

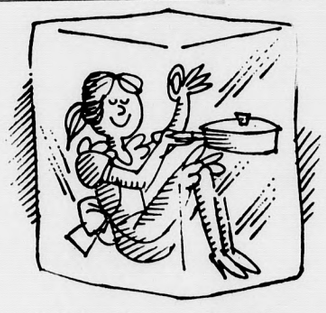

Odriazola singled and three walks later was forced in. Moore struck out 13 and walked only two.

Bryant Leads Host of Woodside Tennis Vets Back into Battle

This can be risky business when a possible league title is at stake, but coach Hal Wall's Woodside High tennis team jumps right into South Peninsula Athletic League play tomorrow afternoon with no practice matches but sights set on repeating its 1962 SPAL championship, when it went 8-0.

The opposition is waiting for them at Carlmont High in Belmont, with matches starting at 3:15. Next Tuesday the Wildcats get their first practice match, going to Mountain View High for a 3:15 p.m. encounter.

There's a lot of skill and experience for Wall to choose from, since most of his title team of last year is back. This includes first singles veteran Torry Bryant, a senior who was SPAL tourney runnerup last year.

The other singles, all vets, probably will be senior Skip Cashin, No. 2, junior Ron Reis No. 3, junior Ed Haven No. 4 and junior Kevin King No. 5.

The Roberts twins, John and Bill, both seniors, are rated one of the best doubles tandems in the league by Wall, since they've been playing together for several years and know all the moves. He can't say the same for the only probable newcomers to the lineup, freshman John Steckel and soph Phil Henderson in second doubles.

Three-year vet John Alexander, a senior, and junior Jay Voss are rated as having the best chances for grabbing a place on the lower singles ladder if someone now there should slip.

Wall's pride and joy is Bryant, who has been with the Cat tennis team in both its previous years of play. Great reactions and all the skills are Bryant's trademarks. Reis does his best around the net, Cashin and Haven are steady but unspectacular and King runs hot and cold — very much one way or the other.

George Kraft is the major loss to graduation. Kraft and Cashin won the SPAL doubles title last year.

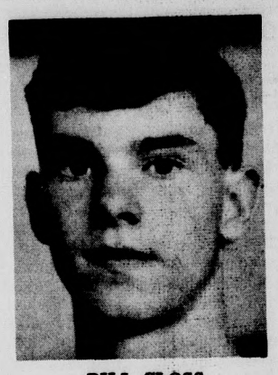

"We have as good a chance as anybody," Wall said this week about his chances at the crown. "But the league is stronger and the double round robin makes it just that much harder to win them all."

Closs, Lasker, Perry Give Menlo School Share of All-BCAL Basketball Squads Domination

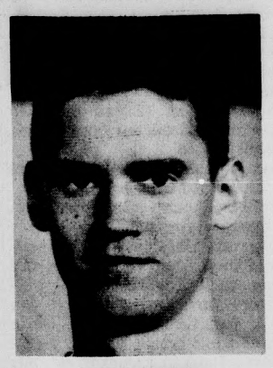

Six-four sophomore center Bill Closs, 6-0 guard Henry Lasker and 6-4 junior Doug Perry, Menlo School's major punch in its drive to a Bay Counties Athletic League co-title, were named to the all-BCAL teams at a coaches' meeting Monday night in San Francisco.

DOUG PERRY

Closs and Lasker were named to the first team, with Perry getting on the third unit. Menlo had more than any other school, two, on the first unit, and tied with Lick-Wilmerding School of San Francisco for most named, three.

Closs, from Palo Alto, was Menlo's top scorer, both in league and practice games, with a league total of 225 points — a 17.3 points per game average. He hit 34, 29 and 28 points in three games for season highs. Lasker, from Sherman Oaks, scored 189 points for a 14.5 average. His single game high was 27 points. He also had a 26-point effort and one of 22.

Perry, from Atherton, was usually right behind or in between Closs and Lasker in the scoring column. Closs was the Acorns' leading rebounder, but not by much over Perry. These two very often owned the boards.

Menlo, Emery, St. Vincent's School of Petaluma and Lick-Wilmerding each placed two players in the evenly-distributed junior varsity all-league selections.

John Thomas, Menlo's ace center, and Dick Fuller were the choices from the little Acorns. Thomas was leading scorer of the Acornlets, who finished second, behind Emery in final league standings.

Don Lyons of California School for the Deaf in Berkeley is a repeater, moving up from the second team to the first, while St. Vincent's School of Petaluma's Tom Bell stayed on the second squad. Emery High's Lyndell Coleman and Lick's Steve Leonard both moved up from the third team in 1962 to second team this year.

der for 54-53. Crum scrapped hard to sink a rebound shot and give Ravenswood breathing room at 56-53. But Cudworth fed Roehl beautifully for two.

Then Branch blocked a Cudworth hook — and was called for a two-shot foul. Jeff hit both of them with 1:50 to go. The scrambling was wild after that and the only scoring came from the free throw line. Branch hit one with 44 seconds left, but Eddie McGuire added one for Sequoia.

Big Nate had a two-shot try go sour with 11 seconds left. tallied the final point of the game.

The season was over for the SPAL co-champion Trojans. He hit one but the other went off the rim and Roehl had it. A moment later, Armstrong

The Ravenswood High varsity visit to Menlo-Atherton last week was another run-away for the Trojans, who capped the regular SPAL season with a 81-32 decision over the punchless Bears.

Cesarin Takes FD Golf Trophy

Lieutenant Richard Cesarin this week was proclaimed the winner of the Menlo Park Fire District firemen's golf tournament, firing a net 204 in thre rounds of play at Crystal Springs Golf Course.

He was chased into the winner's circle by firemen Bill Bradbury and Robert Hurt, who netted 205 over the distance.

And he got the trophy without firing a low gross round; that honor was shared by Captain Louis Bellomi and Bradbury.

Lieutenant Cesarin fired net rounds of 64-66-74 in his tours for the course, par for which is 71.

Bradbury's rounds were 71-71-63 and Hurt's 74-67-63. Hurt was awarded the third place prize, behind Bradbury, in what was described by the firemen as a "flip of the coin playoff."

Fourth place award went to Captain Jack Glunz, who got 206 with a 70-66-70

Ten other firemen finished the tournament, which operated under an informal time schedule — except that players had to complete their rounds by the end of Sunday — because of the arrangement of shifts among the firemen.

They included Ken Trammell, Captain Robert Whitney, Captain Vincent DelPozzo, Lieutenant Clarence Courter, Bill Cunha, Hank Reed, Melvin Downs, Lieutenant Wynn Baker, Jim Scala and Ollie Brown.

Crocker Repeats Tourney Title, Downs Nativity

One champion repeated and another returned to a familiar place in the finals of Menlo Park Recreation Department's seventh annual Washington's Birthday Eighth Grade Basketball Tournament Saturday at Menlo-Atherton High School gym.

Crocker School of Hillsborough, a dashing, quick-witted ballclub, took its second straight class A (small school) title by nipping Nativity School of Menlo Park 32-28 in the A final.

Goodwin School copped an all-Redwood City AA (large school) final by slinking past McKinley 32-30 in probably the finest game of the entire tournament. Goodwin won the title in 1959 and Jeff Cudworth, now Sequoia High School's all-time cage great, was the star of the squad.

Menlo Park teams captured only one championship — Oak Knoll School's third-place trophy Saturday afternoon was secured after beating down La Entrada School of Menlo Park 38-23.

The San Mateo Sooners from College Park School bumped Encinal School of Atherton in a low-scoring 19-8 affair for the A consolation title.

Burlingame Intermediate School nudged Taylor School of Millbrae 36-35 for third, moving up a notch from its consolation championship of last year. The consolation trophy went to Madrone School of Sunnyvale this time, via a 33-19 rout of Covington of Los Altos.

CLOSE A FINAL

Crocker led Nativity by anything from two to six points throughout, finally having to fight off a last-ditch charge by the tourney's only parochial school.

With 5:20 left in the game, Nativity's big center Bob Anway layed one up to make it 29-26 Crocker. Anway soon fouled out with his fifth personal, however, with Crocker's Lee Eisan hitting the free throw. Mike Beall almost got a layup for Nativity, but was called on an offensive foul on the way in.

Eisan returned the favor by fouling Randy Demeter with only 49 seconds of play left. Demeter sank both one-and-one charities, Crocker led 30-28 and hope was high. Three seconds later the balloon had burst when Lou Dominques, just into the game, fouled Crocker's Doug Deitch. Both tosses went in. The winners' Gary Watson missed another free one with only 17 seconds left.

Demeter led Nativity with eight points, with Greg Smoak right behind with seven. Anway got five and Mike Naulla and Beall four each. Morgan Pickering led all scorers for the winners with 10. Eisan was next with nine and Gary Watson got six.

It was only 18-16 Crocker at halftime, but the Crockers' close pressing tactics in the forecourt were spelling trouble. Forced outside, Nativity couldn't hit enough shots to keep in the race.

A hot Oak Knoll team steamrolled La Entrada with a blistering first half, leading 25-8 at the intermission. Bob Berg scored 13 and Mark Garfield 12 points for the Oak Knollers, each netting eight of them in the first half. Mike Rockwell had most of La Entrada's scoring punch, with 11 points, Don Bunce followed with eight.

Encinal's poor showing was highlighted by its only two field goals being scored in the first period and a totally scoreless fourth period. The Sooners, led by Larry Page, scored 11 in the first quarter, led 11-5 and might as well have gone home.

Page led all scorers with 11. Chuck Baker and Jim Mathnig each got four for the rest of the Sooner scoring. Roger Andrews scored all three of his high-for Encinal in the first period, a field goal and free throw.

Goodwin's Tom Odell hit two free throws with 12 seconds to play that put his club on top 32-28. It was a good thing for Goodwin, for McKinley's Jay Conlin took a feed from Steve Camazino and hit a five-foot jumper with five seconds to go that closed it bask up to two digits. Goodwin held the ball and ran out the clock.

Goodwin actually had the edge in all departments with scoring punch coming from all directions. Olav Lyssand got eight, with Len Zuras, Dana Ayers and Odell netting seven apiece. Chuck Johnson got nine and Conlin eight for McKinley.

Jim Kauffman scored 16 in Taylors' losing effort. Fred Meitz topped Burlingame with eight, including two fourth-uarter fielders which, with Randy White's one-pointer, were just what the winners needed.

Mike Utt's 12 points, all in the first three periods, helped Madrone coast in over Covington. Bob Barry led the losers with eight points.

Tournament director Stan Sexton, rec dept. supervisor of aquatics, was pleased at the attendance of some 1240 for the day, including about 900 spectators for the evening A and AA finals. This wasn't quite as large a crowd as last year's championship games drew, but this was attributed to the absence of any Menlo Park public school finalists.

Encinal Takes Two Other Cage Titles

Three other basketball championships, all local, were decided Saturday at Burgess Gym too, with Encinal School grabbing two of them.

The Menlo Park Recreation Department fifth grade championship went to Willow School, which defeated Fremont 22-10.

Encinal's sixth graders won over Hillview 17-11 and the seventh grade nipped Nativity 12-11.

Menlo Golfers Eye Repeat Win at Diablo

Coach Bo Molenda's undefeated (2-0) Menlo College golfers are eyeing a repeat over victim No. 2 tomorrow, meeting Diablo Valley College at Concord Country Club at 1 p. m.

The Oaks marched to their second victory Monday, putting the clamps to Diablo 15½-4½ at Stanford Golf Course, just beating the darkness. "These kids are sure slow," Molenda noted.

Medalist was Diablo's Don Wilson, who shot an 80. Low for Menlo was Dee Replogle with an 82.

A pair of splits were the only marring factors in Menlo's 21½-5½ season-opening victory over the Stanford Frosh at Stanford. The high wind wind hurt scores, but Menlo's Jim McNeil was medalist with an 82.

The Oaks' next meet after tomorrow is Monday against San Jose City College at Almaden Golf Course in San Jose at 1 p.m.

SHOUSE CLOSE

College of San Mateo 123-opunder Gary Shouse, ex-Ravenswood High wrestler, almost pulled a terrific upset in the Northern California JC tournament at San Jose Saturday, forcing heavily favored Satoshi Kruitsuba of Oakland C Cinto overtime before dropping an 11-7 decision in the finals. M-A grad Dck Hill placed fifth in the 130-pound division.

Oaks Kiss Off the Basketball Season with Win

Just barely breaking a little better than even for the season, coach Jack Rowley's Menlo College Oaks tromped Cabrillo College 81-73 to close out their basketball season Saturday night at Aptos.

With their 67-52 loss to Monterey Peninsula College still ringing in their ears from Friday night, the Oaks needed this one. It made their final Coast Conference mark 4-6 and gave them fourth place, a game ahead of Cabrillo.

Bob King and George Bellows, a pair of reserves, got Menlo ahead in the last two minutes after the Oaks had blown a 37-31 halftime lead and had been fighting neck-and-neck into the fourth quarter.

Dick Hallett topped Menlo scorers with 21 points, with Bob Foskett next with 13 and Lance Lund 11. Ed Pavley led Cabrillo with 25.

Monterey mercilessly put in 64 per cent (25x39) of their shots from the floor at Menlo Friday night, many of them being muscled past Menlo defenders right under the bucket.

The Oaks fell behind early but usually weren't more than nine points behind. The final 15-point margin was the Lobos' largest of the night.

Bob Nichols and Monterey's Lowell Witten each goth 16 points for high honors, with Witten canning 12 of his in the first half, helping MPC to a 35-28 lead at that point. Hallett was next for Menlo with 15.

Monterey and Vallejo tied for the CCJC title Saturday with 9-1 records, Monterey turning back Hartnell 78-69 and Vallejo dumping San Benito 66-55. The final standings: Monterey and Vallejo 9-1, Hartnell 6-4, Menlo 4-6, Cabrillo 2-8, San Benito 0-10.

HONORS AT POTLUCK

A potluck supper in honor of the players, coaches, parents and managers of the Woodside High School varsity and B basketball teams will be held next Friday, March 15, at 6:30 p.m. in the school multi-purpose room. Some mothers of players and some Woodside High Boosters Club members are putting n this strictly unofficial affair.

First Time for Basketball:

Menlo School Captures BCAL Co-Title with 11-2 Record

Ending on a victorious note, the Menlo School Acorn basketballers grabbed off a tie for the Bay Counties Athletic League title last Thursday by drubbing Emery High's Spartans at the Menlo gym 6-38.

The victory left the Acorns with a 12-2 record in the BCAL, tying them with Lick-Wilmerding School of San Francisco. This was the first basketball crown the Acorns have taken in the nine years since the BCAL was formed, the last major sport in which they have so done. Coach Reynolds Crutchfield's Acorns were 17-3 for the season.

One of the BCAL losses was a one-pointer to Emery three weeks ago, but one greatly atoned for last week. The Acorns have beaten the Emeryville squad only three times in BCAL history. This was the most lopsided.

Tom Fulton squired the Acorns into a 16-5 first-quarter lead with eight points. He led all scorers with 20 when it was over, finally having his best day of the season. Big Bill Closs was next high for the locals with 17.

Doug Perry's 16 rebounds was tops among the Acorns' 34. Emery got 29.

With their new 3-2 zone defense clogging up Emery's shooting, the Menlos moved into a lead that varied from nine to 20 points throughout, with a late spurt producing the final margin.

Emery couldn't maintain the pace in a third-quarter rally. The Spartans his only 31 per cent (17x55) of their shots, with Menlo cooling it at 45 per cent (25x54).

The Menlo zone was especially effective on Emery forward Bob Thomas, third highest prep scorer in Northern California until last week. Thomas had scored 24 against Menlo the first time—he got four this time. Lydell Johnson led Emery with 15, but Crutchfield let Johnson go in order to stop Thomas.

The Acorn junior varsity ended less happily, losing 32-21 to the Emery JV's. The loss put Menlo at 11-3 and in a tie for second place in final league standings with St. Vincent's School of Petaluma. Dick Fuller led Menlo with nine points. Emery took the JV title with a 13-1 mark, marred only by a loss to Half Moon Bay last Thursday.

Final BCAL season standings: Menlo and Lick-Wilmerding 12-2, Emery 10-4, Half Moon Bay and Calif. School for the Deaf 7-7, St. Vincent's 5-9, Concordia 3-11, San Rafael Military Academy 0-14.

Junior varsity: Emery 13-1; Menlo 11-3, St. Vincent's 10-4, CSD 8-6, Lick-Wilmerding 7-7, Half Moon Bay 5-9, SRMA 2-12, Concordia 0-14.

Offense Marks Final Rec Cage Action

The motive was strictly offensive in the final games of Menlo Park Recreation Department's Teen Basketball League play at Menlo-Atherton High gym last week.

The top six teams of the 12 played all-star fives from the bottom six placers in the final week's action, with the first division squads getting only an even 3-3 split. One winner was the unbeaten league champion Rat Racers, who finished at 9-0.

Neil Orem and Mike Curtis scored 30 points apiece in the biggest 1-2 splurge of the season for any one team, Orem getting 18 in the second half of the Sinners' 85-57 over one all-star squad. Jim Rundell led the losers with 17.

Bruce Morningstar canned 26 in another all-star aggregation's 83-30 loss to the Warriors, but the Warriors' Brian Dorland got 26 also and a little better support. Orem, in his second game of the night, added 22 for the Warriors, as did league scoring leader Jeff Morris for the losers.

All the Rat Racers scored in double figures in their 70-61 decision over their all-star opponents. Pete Klein led with 18 points, with Dennis Pegelow next high with 17. Morningstar led this all-star group and the game with 20, with Jim Malley helping with 18.

Craig Cochrane netted 20, but the Stingrays still lost to their lower division foes 39-36. Mike Connaway topped the winners with 17 points and Rex Hays came next with 10.

Bill Ford got 15 and Dorland 13 in another all-star group's close 46-45 decision over the Misfits. Gus Bayle's 17 and Randy Burke's 14 points paced the losers.

And then there was the case of the Bangers getting taken to task by some all-stars 58-51 on a pair of 15-point performances by Gary Klein and Connaway with Frank Pipgras right behind with 14. Mani Gonzales got 16 and Mark Ackerman 12 for the Bangers.

FINAL STANDINGS

Rat Racers 9-0, Misfits, 6-3, Stingrays 5-4, Sinners, 5-4, Warriors 5-4, Bangers 5-4, Hack n' Sack 5-3, Saints 3-5, 63's 3-5, Tornados 2-6, Gladiators 2-6, Gents 1-7.

LEADING SCORERS

Jeff Morris 191, Gus Bayle 177, Neil Orem 171, Mike Curtis 163, Bruce Morningstar 160, Frank Pipgras 142, Brian Dorland 139, Jim Malley 130, Craig Cochrane 126, Jim Rundell 121.

Woodside 8th Grade Offers 'Wild Rose'

The famed operetta "Wild Rose" will be presented Saturday night by the Woodside Elementary School eighth grade in the school multi-purpose room, with curtaintime at 8:10.

Participating will be the entire eighth grade class, with the assistance of sixth and seventh graders in a supporting chorus.

Diana Wehrli and Darlene Laye each play a girl named Rose, but unusual Roses. A gypsy mother secretly trades her own baby Rose for the baby of a wealthy woman's baby Rose so she can see her own daughter grow a better environment.

The plot centers around the complications arising when the two grown Roses show inclinations of following behavior patterns of their original lives. Rose the gypsy girl wants to camp out and marry a gypsy boy, much to the chagrin of her patrician "mother," while the high-born Rose wants to get away from the gypsy camp, where she feels she is out of her proper environment.

Naturally they've each fallen in love with a boy of their own original type of life, the gypsy Rose with a gypsy boy, the other Rose with a boy of high station in life who already has been promised to the other Rose on the assumption that this will be a high-society mating.

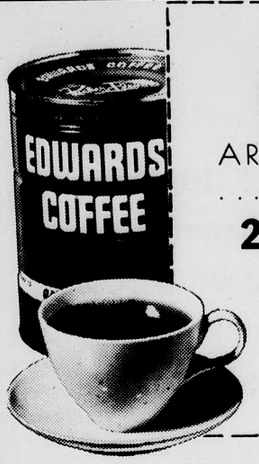

And on it goes. Arranged marriages, gypsy tribal customs and lore, great abuse of the heroine and finally the thrilling climax where all works out just fine in the end.

The rest of the cast includes Jessie Schilling, Mike Hedrick, Helen Talbot, Tom DeBenedetti, Kathy Gray, Patricia Ruys, Michael Romelfanger, Kent Kelly, Sylvia Liebowitz, Barbara Gilmore, Paul Fifield, Fran Nagel, Linda Marshall, Mika Mogenson and Joan Lovering.

The musical is directed by Miss Vicki Lintini, music teacher at Woodside School, and George Sellman, eighth grade teacher and school vice-principal.

Tickets may be purchased from any cast members or at the school office.

Now in Training:

Young Netters Begin Drills in New Program

Four young aspiring tennis players from the area who will participate in the Junior Development Program of Professional Tennis, Inc., have been announced by Sig Jacobson, professional tennis instructor at Alpine Hills Tennis and Swimming Club.

The youngsters are Bob Young, 13, of Menlo Park, a seventh grader at La Entrada School; Bruce Johnston, 13, Portola Valley, a seventh grader at Portola Valley School; Dan McGanney, 11, Atherton, a sixth grader at St. Joseph's School in Menlo Park; and Joe Welsh, 13, Palo Alto, eighth grader at Jordan Junior High.

Their selection was based on a series of physical skill tests given at local schools by Jacobson.

The four currently are undergoing a long-range training program under Jacobson's direction at Alpine Hills, designed to develop future top-ranking players from the Mid-Peninsula area.

In early April they will compete in a tournament at the Carmel Valley Tennis Ranch against youths selected for the program from other communities.

Free lessons and equipment are being provided by the sponsoring organization, composed of Northern California professional tennis instructors.

In the Garden: What To Do About Wind

There's nothing like a good wind to spoil the fun of outdoor living. In the cooler months, especially, it can take what little warmth there is right out of the sunshine and even in summer, it can drive a man to shelter.

March is often windy and a good month, therefore to turn up the need for a windbreak in the garden. When March winds start to blow you can get a good idea of how protected or unprotected your own outdoor living area really is. And don't think March is the only month to worry about. It may get the publicity, but wind is wherever you find it during the rest of the year, too.

There are several shrubs which can be planted to combat it. Their selection depends largely on how much space you have. But one or another of the following should fill your need of a windbreak.

In the small garden you could do no better than to plant one of the privets and let it grow up to a commanding height. Japanase privet is a good choice and so is the glossy privet. These are large-leaf varieties compared to those most commonly used in hedging, handsome as can be with highly polished foliage and full, sturdy growth.

You can prune these to hedge-like formality or let them shrub out in a less formal manner. For screens and windbreaks, give it the less formal treatment. Formal shearing, however, will make them suitable for more cramped quarters.

In southern California and along the north coast, the Australian brush cherry makes a fine tall screen for sheltering the living area of a garden. It, too, can be sheared to fit limited spaces, but it is really more handsome when permitted to grow less formally. The glossy, small leaves, tinged with reddish bronze make a colorful backdrop for outdoor living. The small, purplish fruit are edible but no great delicacy. You'll probably find you can live without them.

English laurel is a handsome shrub with big, glossy leaves densely carried on its branches. Left to its own, it will shrub out to make a rounded form several feet wide. It also can be pruned to a more formal shape, but true formality is not for the English laurel. Pruned or unpruned, however, it makes a wonderful windbreak and screen for the small garden. English laurel is one of the best tall screeens you can plant in California.

Last but far from least is that shrub of so many uses, the Victorian box. As a wide, informal screen, Victorian box has few equals. Its undulating foliage, a glossy, deep green, has both eye appeal and the density to provide good shelter from prevailing winds. Be sure to top it at the desired height so that its tendency to grow up into a small tree form will be thwarted. It stands shearing but is more attractive when allowed to shrub out some.

The delightful thing about the Victorian box is the heavenly perfume which its small white blossoms dispense each spring and to some extent throughout summer. The fragrance is less intense than jasmine but strong enough to fill the air on friendly spring evenings. Small fruits or seed pods follow the flowers, turning from green to an attractive shade of orange in the fall.

While we have considered these shrubs as windbreaks only, it should be noted that they serve to screen out unwanted views and to give privacy also. These two goals are just as important to enjoyment of the outdoor living area as is lack of wind.

The matter of privacy, especially, should be a prime consideration, for nothing dampens the pleasure of a barbecue more than the lack of privacy.

Barbara Rees Shows Works At Ladera

Barbara Rees of Atherton and Joan Christensen of Palo Alto will display their works at Gallery House through March 24. The gallery, located in the Ladera Shopping Center is open from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. on weekdays and Saturday and 1-4 p.m. Sunday, closed Monday. Groups and classes are welcome.

Mrs. Rees executes oils of broad landscapes and modern constructions. Collages, ceramics and water colors are included in her showing. A graduate of the University of Chicago, she also has attended Goucher College and the University of Texas.

On considering her work she comments, "I try to affirm the beauty of life and nature, to communicate this to the spectator, thereby enriching his experience and vision."

Barbara Rees has won awards at the Palo Alto Art Club Annual in 1960, 1961 and 1962, at the San Mateo County Fair and Fiesta in 1961, and has held one-man shows at such places as St. Michael's Alley, Palo Alto Library, and the Guild Book Store.

She also has exhibited at the San Francisco Women Artists' Annual in 1960 and 1961, the San Francisco Arts Festival, 1961-62, Society of Western Artists Annual at de Young, 1962, Beaux Arts Ball, 1961, and, among other places, the Peninsula Art Association at Hillsdale, 1960-61.

Joan Christensen's paintings have been done with a modified epoxy resin, combined with other materials to create contrasting textures. Upon exploring new materials, Mrs. Christensen suggests the possibilities of this resin being developed as a medium for outdoor exhibition, it having greater durability than oil. Mrs. Christensen graduated from the University of Michigan and has exhibited widely in Europe and the United States.

Comedia Tryouts Set for New Play

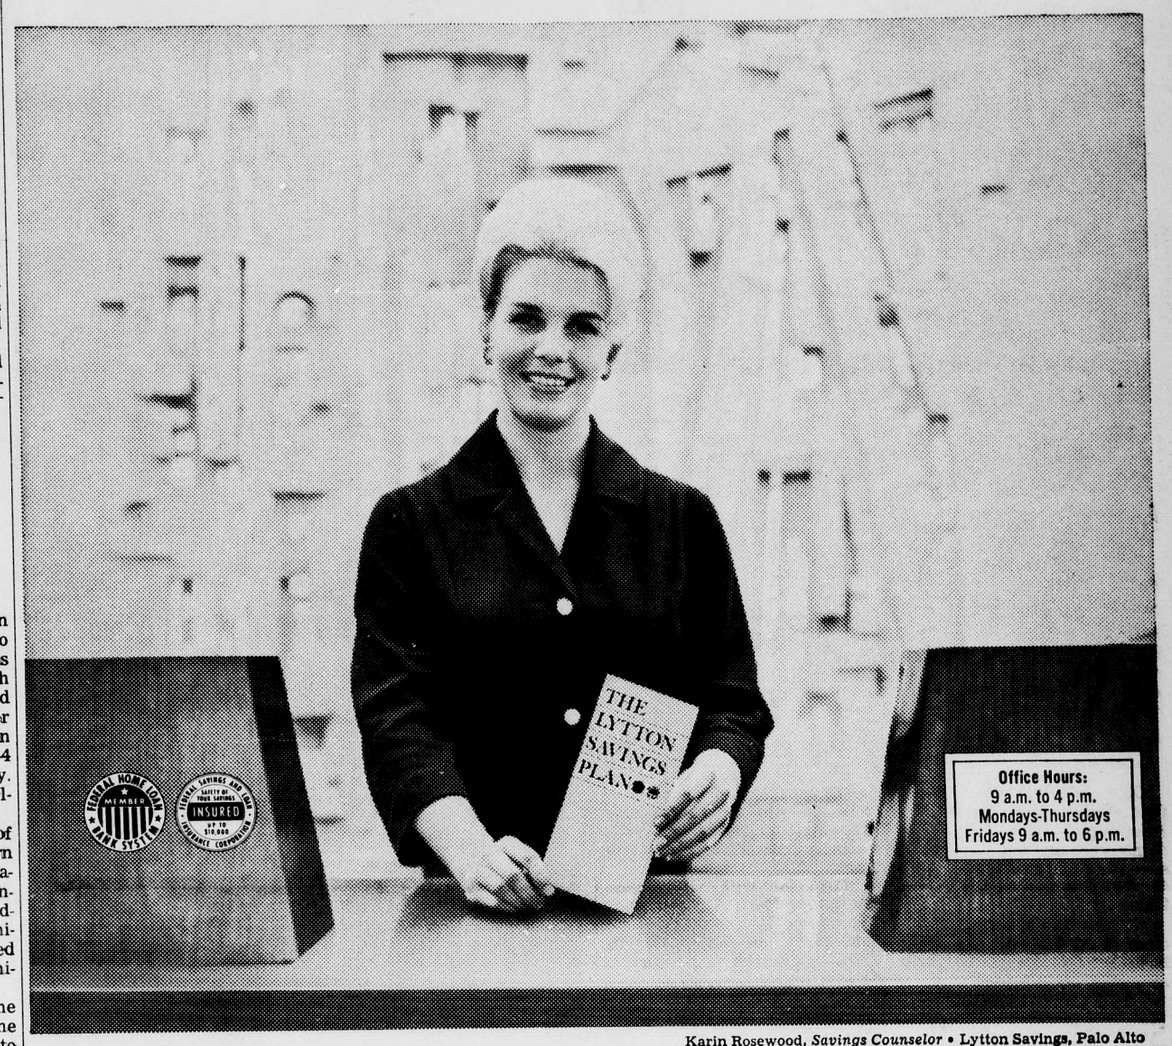

Tennessee Williams' only comedy, "Period of Adjustment," will be the next dramatic presentation by the Comedia Repertory Company, which will replace Edward Albee's "Zoo Story" and "The American Dream," currently playing Thursdays at 8:30 at the Comedia Theater in Menlo Park.

Auditions for the eight-character comedy will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings, March 11 and 12, at 8 at the Comedia Theater, 1300 El Camino Real.

There are comedy roles for four men and four women. Two couples in their late twenties, one couple in their late forties and two minor characters, male and female, who may be 25 to 45.

The play concerns the "period of adjustment" of a young couple immediately following their honeymoon. The play will be directed by Mrs. Judith Dresch, recently returned from Washington, D.C.

Mental Health Programs:

Koffee Klatsch Tells Auxiliary Purpose

Mrs. Juliana Friedman will act as hostess at the annual spring "Koffee Klatsch" given by the Auxiliary to the Mental Health Programs of San Mateo County March 14 at 10:30 o'clock in her Atherton home.

This informal coffee session, one of several held simultaneously throughout the county, is the means used by the auxiliary to explain the purposes and goals of the organization to friends and prospective new members.

The group, which began in 1959 with 12 members, now has an active membership of 33. These women, all San Mateo County residents, have given many volunteer hours in support of both the office of the San Mateo Mental Health Association and the Psychiatric Day Center under directioin of the Rehabilitation Department of the Mental Health Services Division at San Mateo Community Hospital.

They also sponsor one money making social event in the fall, "The Hoedown." Funds from this have been used to provide some of the office equipment at the association office and to furnish and maintain the canteen run by patients of the day center.

Mrs. Friedman, a charter member of the auxiliary, was chairman of the art lending library, through which the group placed paintings on loan into the hospitals of the San Mateo County Department of Public Health and Welfare. An auxiliary-sponsored house tour was also one of her major projects.

Encinal Shows Fitness

Encinal school children will demonstrate their physical education program as the highlight of a morning coffee on Thursday, March 14, at 9:30 in the school's multi-purpose room.

Demonstrations will show skills developed at various grade levels with the emphasis on individual physical fitness rather than team sports.

Charles Bobrink, vice principal of Encinal, and Lew Knights, physical education consultant, will moderate the discussion.

The after-school sports program which the PTA has been conducting this year will also be reviewed and evaluated. Bobrink, Knights, and Richard Kilgalen, who have been active in developing and supervising the program will present their views on the merits of the sports program.

Encinal was left without a recreation program when the school district discontinued its support of an after-school program this year. The town of Atherton provides no recreaional services. With funds provided by the PTA and Encinal families the PTA has been able to hire two men to suprvise after-school sports.

Baby-sitting will be available during the morning program at the school's kindergarten playground, according to Mrs. Arthur Ross, program chairman. Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Thomas Howarth, Mrs. John Hippen, Mrs. John Doyle and Mrs. Daniel Meub, third and fourth grade room mothers,

Wedgwood Society Sets Meeting

Members may bring guests to this meeting.

HOUSE TOUR

Five Hillsborough houses are being announced today as the stars of the "Million Dollar House Tour" to be given Tuesday, April 9, by the Mothers' Club of the Crystal Springs School for Girls. The tour will be the first-chance-ever for the public to see inside the beautiful homes of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. John Renshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haynie, Mr. and Mrs. Lent Hooker and Mrs. Gerald Rathbone.

Spring Ballet Opens

An 8:30 curtain at the Geary Theater on April 16 marks the opening of the San Francisco Ballet Company's Spring Season, sponsored for its fourth annual spring performances by the San Francisco Ballet Guild.

Each year the company introduces an entirely original new ballet; in '61, "Original Sin"; '62, "Jest of Cards" and, this year, "Fantasma" on opening night.

"Fantasma" is a ballet with bizarre masks and elaborate costumes created by Tony Duquette. The music is set to Prokofiev waltzes. Lew Christensen, the company's "maestro," has done the choreography.

Mrs. Garrett McEnerney is head of the ticket committee in San Francisco and Mrs. James H. Hansen of Atherton is ticket chairman for the Peninsula Branch of the San Francisco Ballet Guild. Information for the gala opening and spring season may be had by calling 325-5535.

Small Talk:

Petite Envoy Finds a Home

By PROXY

International relations, as practiced on the level of American homes opening to foreign students is a growing persuasion among Mid-Peninsulites who are convinced that they, their families, and the youngsters they befriend gain enormously from the contact.

Many programs exist to bring foreign students here; they flourish somewhat uncertainly under the influence of strongly backed enthusiasm on the part of a few and public apathy as far as financial support goes. Some families have taken it upon themselves to help privately the student who needs or wants an American education. Such a family is the David H. Ross family who are sponsoring Yasuko Nadayoshi as a student at San Francisco State College.

Yasuko, pictured at left cooking suki yaki for her American family and their guests, is working very hard at her college to master courses given in her chosen field which will be a form of industrial liaison. Although, her English is very good, she encounters the academic difficulties which would confront anyone studying in language not his native tongue.

Her problems, however, are mitigated by the fact that her social relationships are in no way a problem. She has the backing of her American family and their affection which she returns warmly. Yasuko dances beautifully in the style of an older civilization than the twentieth century of which she is very much a product and guests in the Ross home are delighted to see her in one of her lovel kimonos performing the traditional gestures of Japanese choreography.

And Yasuko's guests are made welcome at the Atherton home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross. Yasuko's attitude toward the people she has met and the community in which she finds herself would be a delight to anyone working toward amicable international relations. Significantly, she, too, is working toward this end—in the one direction that concerns her since being enrolled in American college. She says foreign students—particularly those from Korea and India—are lonely and she intends to lessen that loneliness—with the help of her American friends.

Tuesday, April 9, is the day that children will be particularly welcome. Youngsters will be offered a box lunch of favorite foods on the patio, and be entertained by a magician and a surprise lady.

FROM NEW ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shanaman, formerly of Connecticut, are now living in Menlo Park. Th couple has a year-old daughter.

Combined Forces:

Four Guilds Form Community Group

Four Mid-Peninsula organizations, Menlo-Atherton Auxiliary to the Retarded Children's Guild, its parent, the 10-year-old Retarded Children's Guild which operates the Market of the Flea in Palo Alto, the Workshop Guild and Bracken Guild, have reorganized as guilds to a composite organization to be known as Community Organization for Retarded.

Chartered just after the first of the year the community organization will continue to operate the present facilities and will work to provide a complete facility for the retarded. Their goal is to find a location combining the services under "one roof."

In the recreation field, they will continue with their Saturday and summer activities which include a scouting program, and a program which includes sports, arts and crafts and dancing.

The nursery school, operated for retarded children between 3 and 9, will be continued and expanded.

Other facets of the program are work training which enables those participating to learn skills in the fields of gardening and domestic work with an eye to improving their chances for employment.

The Workshop Guild endeavors to find specific jobs in such fields as assembly and packing that can be brought to the center, completed and returned to the employer.

Still another development that is envisioned is a temporary housing center where a live-in couple could care for children who are in need of temporary care because of family emergency or so that parents may with confidence be away for a weekend or a vacation. The feeling behind the project is that such a facility may ease the family situation by relieving parents of special responsibility for a day or two.

The proposed community center for the children is in the drawing board stage. The Community Association for Retarded has strengthened its program through reorganization and will receive funds through its four auxiliaries and through private groups, such as sorority alumnae who choose to lend their fund-raising abilities. For example, the Menlo-Atherton Auxiliary to Retarded Children's Guild donates the proceeds of its annual smorgasbord dessert and boutique sale to the cause each November as well as providing driving service to the nursery school.

'Friends Outside':

Volunteers Serve At County Jail

In March 1962, a small group of women volunteers was organized to serve in the women's quarters of the San Mateo County jail. The group was formed with the help and cooperation of the administration of the San Mateo County Sheriff's Department, the Adult Probation Department, and representatives from a jail auxiliary group in Santa Clara County who called themselves the "Friends Outside."

The Northern California Service League, a private social service agency, was requested by the Sheriff's Department to provide professional supervision and guidance for the volunteers.

For many years, out of their own pockets and on their own volition, the matrons in the jail had attempted to provide constructive activities for the women inmates. Because of the highly demanding nature of matrons' jobs, it was difficult for them to develop on-going activities for their charges without help.

Miss Margaret Ruettell, executive director of the Volunteer Bureau of San Mateo County, has been most helpful in the development of this new program in the jail. Through her efforts, the San Mateo Junior Women's Club became interested not only in sponsoring this program on a financial basis, but also provided two club members — Mrs. Phyllis Outzen and Mrs. Charlotte Schultz — who actually work as volunteers in the jail.

The chairman of the volunteer program, which is presently called the Northern California Service League Volunteers, is Mrs. Doris Bogart of Atherton. Through her efforts and dedication, the work of the Volunteers has become a valuable asset and a welcome innovation to the women's program in the county jail.

At the present time, the volunteers are visiting the jail one day a week. They have been providing instruction in sewing, handicrafts and painting. They have donated books to the jail library and have made arrangements for providing clothing and, in some cases, small amounts of money to destitute women who are being released. Most important, however, they have shown a sincere concern and interest in these troubled women and have given a non-judging, sympathetic ear to individuals that society generally rejects and wants to forget.

Jail volunteers appreciate any financial donations to supplement their own efforts. The money would be used to purchase sewing, handicraft and painting supplies for the women in jail. Financial donations would also be used to provide some assistance to those women being released from jail who are destitute, who have no place to live, and no means of supporting themselves. Donations can be made out to the Northern California Service League (Volunteers), Court House, Redwood City.

Cancer Films Pay Off

American Cancer Society's year-round campaign to educate women about the importance of early detection of two of the most common forms of cancer is paying lifesaving dividends.

Dr. Stanford B. Rossiter, secretary of the ACS branch here, today reported encouraging statistics based on survival of patients treated through Sequoia Hospital.

Figures compiled by the ACS at Sequoia Hospital show a much higher local ratio of women who survive breast cancer and cancer of the cervix or the uterus than is found in national statistics, Dr. Rossiter said.

Although national statistics indicate a survival rate between 40 per cent and 55 per cent, the women in the Sequoia Hospital group survived at a significantly higher rate.

In the incidence of cancer of the cervix, figures show a great majority of the patients are in Stage I — least serious category — where 85 per cent of all cases are curable, Dr. Rossiter added. The national average indicates the majority of patients are first seen in the Stage II and Stage III category, where the cure rate is below 50 per cent.

Two current films, "Time and Two Women," which tells how uterine cancer can be virtually eliminated by proper cytologic cervical tests, and "Is Smoking Worth It?" about teen-age smoking habits, are being widely shown through the San Mateo County Branch of the ACS.
